Mob Rips Up Canadian Flag

KARACHI (UPI)—Pakistani mobs, Tuesday, attacked U.S. Canadian, British and UN government installations in Karachi and Lahore, breaking windows, setting fires and tearing down flags.

The protests were part of day-long demonstrations here and at other Pakistani cities protesting the United Nations ceasefire order and alleged Western support for India in the Kashmir dispute.

Demonstrations also were reported at Dacca, Lahore and several other cities.

Rioters tossed stones at the Canadian High Commission, ripped down the Canadian flag

"and tore it into pieces" in Karachi.

It was the first time the new Canadian flag—a red maple leaf on white adopted in the last parliament—has been defaced abroad.

There are about 120 Canadians in the Pakistani city. An external affairs spokesman in Ottawa said the situation will be watched closely and if matters grow worse Canadians will be ordered out. He said planes have been sent and "they can be moved in a matter of hours."

The U.S. information service library was destroyed and 15,000 books in the building were destroyed or burned. Several hundred policemen later were posted near the embassy, the United States offices and the Indian High Commission.

Canadian officials said no official protest will be lodged because the Pakistani government has apologized for the incident.

Demands Fulfilled?

PEKING, DELHI DEFUSE CRISIS

NEW DELHI (AP)—The threat of war between India and China appeared to have eased dramatically early today, hours before Peking's deadline to New Delhi to dismantle military outposts in the Himalayas.

Peking radio announced that Indian troops had crossed into Chinese-held Tibet and hauled down the posts the Chinese had demanded be pulled back by late today.

An Indian spokesman reported earlier that Indian and Chinese troops skirmished twice in the last 24 hours in the disputed mountain region and that Indian forces retreated in each case rather than provoke the Chinese.

The dual announcements were seen as a possible prelude to a declaration by Peking that it considered its demands on India fulfilled. The Chinese had threatened India with "grave consequences" if the demands were not met.

The Peking and New Delhi announcements came in the midst of worldwide diplomatic efforts to prevent the fighting between India and Pakistan over Kashmir from escalating into a broader war between India and China.

China last Friday gave India 72 hours to dismantle 56 alleged military outposts on Chinese-claimed territory on the Sikkim frontier. On Sunday, Peking extended the deadline another three days.

The Peking broadcast said the Indian troops destroyed all 56 military works, apparently satisfying the Chinese ultimatum.

Many diplomatic observers had predicted the Chinese might bring the crisis to the boiling point, then make an 11th-hour announcement they consider their terms met. By saying India had destroyed or pulled back the intruding outposts, Peking could claim a triumph over the No. 2 Asian country without actually going to war.

Mao Tse-tung's regime has been an eager spectator to the India-Pakistan fighting, openly supporting the Pakistani claims on Kashmir and repeatedly denouncing Indian "aggression."

India disclosed its troop pull-back in Sikkim in a protest handed to the Chinese embassy in New Delhi. The note said Chinese troops fired on Indian outposts in two mountain passes Monday and Tuesday, but rather than provoke incidents the Indians withdrew.

The note described India as "gravely concerned by these premeditated acts of aggression and provocation" and de-

Pakistan Agrees

Ceasefire On Deadline

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Pakistan early today accepted the Security Council's demand for a cease fire in its Kashmir war with India.

Pakistan Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto denounced India and then, as the clock registered 2 a.m., the Security Council's cease-fire deadline, he read a message from Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan which said:

"Pakistan considers the Security Council resolution No. 211 of Sept. 20 (the cease-fire demand) as unsatisfactory. However, in the interest of international peace and to lead to a peaceful solution, I have issued orders to stop fighting as of 12:05 Pakistan time. At that time, our troops will not fire unless fired upon, provided Indian forces follow similar orders."

Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri notified Secretary-General Thant Monday night that his government would accept the cease-fire if Pakistan did likewise.

Bhutto declared that Pakistan was giving the council a "last chance" to settle the Kashmir dispute, which has simmered for 17 years.

Flees Florida Jail

Lemay Drops To Freedom

MIAMI (UPI)—Canadian Georges Lemay, once described as one of the most wanted men on the North American continent, lowered himself seven stories down the side of the Dade County jail Tuesday and sped away in a waiting car.

Police ordered a manhunt from Florida to Canada for Lemay, wanted for bank robbery in Canada. Three other men were seen in the white 1965 car that whisked Lemay away from the "escape proof" jail.

The dark-haired Canadian beauty the slick, 39-year-old fugitive married while in jail here awaiting appeal of a deportation order was also reported missing. Police said Mrs. Lemay, who was free on bond pending an appeal of her own deportation order, had not been seen for a day or more at the place where she stayed.

Lemay was last seen in the dusty blue trusty's uniform he wore as a member of a cleanup detail in a part of the new jail still under construction. Lemay found a barless window there and evidently used the hose to lower himself by stages to the ground.

Lemay, wanted for the $528,000 robbery of the Montreal branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1961, was captured in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., last May 6. He was recognized by a boat yard worker who had seen his picture on a "wanted" poster flashed from Europe via the Early Bird commercial satellite.

Rivard Guilty Says Texas Jury

LAREDO, Tex. (CP)—Lucien Rivard was convicted on two narcotics charges and three fellow-Canadian co-defendants on single charges at the end of their seven-day trial Tuesday in federal district court here.

Each of the charges carries a minimum five years and a maximum 20 in penitentiary. Judge Ben C. Connally said after court adjourned the men will be sentenced about 30 or 40 days from now, after he receives probation officers' reports on their records, obtained from Canadian authorities. The sentencing might be either here or at Houston, headquarters of the southern Texas federal judicial district.

Rivard was found guilty of conspiring to smuggle heroin into the United States and of "causing" the smuggling of a particular shipment of 76 pounds seized at this Mexican border point in 1963.

The jury found the four Canadians guilty on all the charges for which they were on trial here. Rivard, Jones, Gagnon and Groleau all were found guilty of conspiring to carry narcotics into the U.S., and Rivard was convicted on the additional charge of "causing" heroin to be smuggled.

Two Men Lost In Blast

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Two men are missing and believed dead and another was taken to hospital with undetermined injuries Tuesday night after an explosion rocked one unit of the Du Pont of Canada Ltd. explosives plant seven miles south of here.

A Du Pont spokesman said the cause of the explosion, which occurred at the company's Nipissing works on Highway 11 about 10:30 p.m., was not yet known.

But he said it involved only one unit of the plant. The units are in separate buildings, surrounded by huge mounds of earth where any hazard is isolated. "That way, if they (explode) they go up instead of sideways," the spokesman said.

Secret Talks

BERLIN (UPI)—British officials met secretly with East Germans Tuesday reportedly to seek the release of Englishman Gerald Brooke from a Russian prison where he is serving a sentence for espionage.

John D: Bumper Policy Crop

Parched Prairie Farms Promised Peace Water

By BON COLLISTER
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—John Diefenbaker, dropping new policies like acorns, hinted Tuesday that a Tory government would divert the Athabasca and Peace Rivers to the national leader.

Promising a national water policy during the campaign, Mr. Diefenbaker warned that by 1980, unless something was done, Canadians would have difficulty finding enough pure water for their needs.

LIBERALS BROKEN
Mr. Diefenbaker swung back to the capital after his prairie tour with the conclusion that the disintegration of the Liberal party in that part of Canada is already completed.

● He promised a national water policy.

● He hoped that Manitoba Premier Duff Roblin would campaign in Quebec as part of a nationwide campaign on behalf of the national leader.

● He said he agreed in principle on the need for medicare and rejected the Liberal claim that it was an issue in this campaign.

● And he indicated that, under a Tory government, civil servants would have collective bargaining. The question of whether or not they wanted to be affiliated to the Canadian Labor Congress would be entirely up to them.

Mr. Diefenbaker arrived back in the capital as Prime Minister Pearson was kicking off the Liberals' national campaign at the Chateau Laurier.

Questioned at the airport, he repeated that he believed there was a prima facie case for the extradition of waterfront czar Hal Banks, now in the U.S., over union funds.

Banks, former president of the Seafarers International of Canada fled this country while on bail after conviction for conspiracy to assault.

Earlier, at Winnipeg airport, Mr. Diefenbaker had lunch with Mr. Roblin and most of the Manitoba cabinet.

Sitting side by side and chuckling, Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Roblin made fun of the "pundits" who claimed there was a "deal" between the two men in which Roblin would enter federal politics.

Grits Cheer Pearson For Rousing Kickoff

By FRASER KELLY
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Liberal candidates and workers are fanning out across the nation today buoyed up by Prime Minister Pearson's rousing "up and at 'em" campaign kickoff.

Speaking with confidence and vigor, Mr. Pearson was interrupted 30 times by spontaneous applause as he outlined Liberal Party policy for the future Tuesday.

FULL MEDICARE

Full medicare by 1967, more federal aid to education and a massive training program for the unemployed, were among the carrots he offered voters in exchange for a majority in the Commons.

The audience of more than 360 laughed and clapped as Mr. Pearson alternately ridiculed and lambasted opposition parties.

Yet Mr. Pearson stuck strictly to campaign policy of never mentioning Conservative Leader Diefenbaker by name.

He pounded away at his central campaign theme—the need for a majority mandate to deal with the tough problems ahead.

CLEAR MANDATE

"I am asking for a clear mandate so that our country can have the leadership and strength in Ottawa needed to get on with basic tasks—maintaining economic expansion, improving social security and providing equal opportunity for all."

Abandoned, Bitten, Neglected in B.C.

Dog's Life for Douglas

But in Prince George Monday the animal kingdom made amends to Mr. Douglas.

When the New Democratic Party leader arrived at the airport in the interior British Columbia city, he was handed an affectionate miniature poodle, festooned with an NDP label.

Mr. Douglas said: "At least this one's friendly.

Yesterday I got bitten."

Mr. Douglas said a hound bit hard into his leg and drew blood Sunday during a picnic at Langley in the Fraser Valley east of Vancouver.

They didn't go right when Mr. Douglas launched his campaign for the Nov. 8 federal election at Prince George Monday.

They continued going wrong Tuesday when he arrived here.

He had less than four hours sleep before he had to fly here from Prince George where he left the local NDP organization in disarray.

He hunted in vain Monday for Fred Atkinson, the NDP's Cariboo riding candidate, who withdrew from the campaign for "personal reasons" less than 24 hours after his nomination Sunday.

Then the morning flight arrived early so Mr. Douglas and Maynard Willard, his executive assistant, had the embarrassment of waiting 10 minutes in the airport.

At his downtown hotel, Mr.

Douglas encountered Davis Fulton and learned that a meeting to nominate the Progressive Conservative candidate in Kamloops would conflict with his own meeting Tuesday night.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. Douglas was taken to a pulp mill construction project, expecting to meet workers at the mill's lunchroom. Instead, he was escorted by officials of Kamloops pulp and paper company through the plant, past scores of workers without a single introduction.

Crisis Defused

manded of the Chinese they "stop these military intrusions."

While Chinese moves toward Sikkim and the Ladakh sector of Kashmir, 1,000 miles away, diverted attention from the Indian-Pakistan fighting, both sides made new claims of air victories.

For India, the Chinese pressure raised an important military question: Whether to strengthen the forces in the Himalayas to confront the menacing Chinese or to use Indian troops for a sustained drive against Pakistan in the three-week Kashmir conflict.

READY TO SPRING

Nationalist Chinese intelligence estimated 100,000 Red Chinese troops ready to spring into action against India in the top-of-the-world region.

An Indian spokesman said the exchange of gunshots in Sikkim was the first firing in the area since the Chinese ultimatum to dismantle the emplacements left from the 1962 border fighting between China and India.

Sikkim, a tiny mountain principality whose maharaja is married to former American Hope Cooke, relies on India to handle its defence, foreign relations and communications. Its population is estimated at 170,000.

On the political front, the Indian authorities put up a cool but stiff attitude toward Peking's threats.

PEACE PLAN

Shastri sent UN Secretary-General U Thant India's acceptance idea of a ceasefire provided Pakistan went along and India was given enough advance notice to communicate properly with its front-line troops.

He made it plain New Delhi was agreeing to a number of conditions, including the disposition of the disputed Kashmir problem which started it all. He implied that Indian troops at present on Pakistan territory would stay until suitable negotiations made a withdrawal practical.

WAR EFFORT

In Srinagar, the capital of the Indian-ruled segment of Kashmir, Chief Minister G. M. Sadiq told a public meeting his government is promulgating an ordinance making it a penal offence for anyone to close shops or factories in the emergency.

Sadiq said India faced two enemies — Pakistan and China and therefore nothing should be done to hinder the war effort.

constitutional matters, we will soon be having discussions and negotiations with the provinces of vital importance.

MUST BE STRONG

"To uphold the Canadian position as a whole in these negotiations there must be a strong federal government with strong support in parliament," he said.

He lashed back strongly at opposition charges that his "co-operative federalism policy" has weakened national unity.

NO LONGER DANGER

"There is no longer the same danger that there was not so long ago, that the various parts of our country might go their own ways at the expense of the national interest."

He was roundly applauded as he added: "As our federal system continues to evolve, we intend to see that the government at the centre remains strong enough to serve all of our country and all Canadians."

SERIOUS PROBLEMS

Mr. Pearson said problems of national unity are serious "but they should not be distorted or exaggerated for partisan or for any other purposes."

"Politicians do not help themselves, but they do hurt Canada when they seek to exploit national difficulties and differences for partisan purposes, when they distort incidents and events for their own selfish reasons," he said.

"It is pride, not despondency that should be in Canadian minds and hearts today."

He outlined the great geographical and economic difficulties which have made the development of Canada separate from the United States difficult.

They applauded vigorously when he added: "We are going to keep it Canadian, not North American but Canadian; a separate state that shares a continent and counts in the world."

The prime minister described the economic expansion and prosperity—and the exceptionally low unemployment rate—in Canada today.

PAY CHEQUES BIGGER

"Pay cheques are bigger than ever before, while the income tax has been reduced."

"This overall upsurge is changing the face of Canada," he said.

His audience laughed as he added sarcastically: "This is the mess that has to be cleaned up so that we can return to the happy Tory years between 1957 and 1962 with massive unemployment, unparalleled deficits and economic recession."

ANSWERS CRITICS

The Prime Minister seemed anxious to answer critics who have questioned his leadership.

Passage of the Canada Pension Plan, he said, took "leadership, decision, action and patience."

INTEGRATION

The integration of the armed forces into a single force took "leadership and decision."

He admitted that many more improvements in social welfare and security must be made.

"Here we must proceed with responsibility, refusing to use taxpayers' money to engage in auction sales with irresponsible opposition leaders," he said.

MINORITY THREAT

He said that in minority parliament "the opposition is tempted to make a row about everything, to hold things up, to make trouble all the time."

"The consequences of such continual day to day uncertainty is exaggerated politicking and partisan bickering."

Mr. Pearson opened his speech with a promise "not to spend much time dealing with the Tories, their fears and hopes, their failures and fantasies, their sneers, scandals and scuttles."

CHIDES TORIES

But he used these words of Lewis Carroll in the Hunting of the Snark to describe the return of former rebels to the Conservative party as candidates.

"But the valley grew narrower and narrower still. And the evening got darker and colder."

"Till (merely from nervousness, not from goodwill) They marched along shoulder to shoulder."

Club Expansion

Bid Shelved

A request that the municipality undertake expansion of the Oak Bay Lawn Bowling clubhouse as a winter works project was shelved Monday by Oak Bay council.

"At the present time there are 162 members in the club and of this total 111 are residents of Oak Bay," club secretary-treasurer E. J. Hadfield said in a letter to council.

"The majority of these members are senior citizens who are retired and find need of relaxation which the bowling club provides."

Mr. Hadfield said sketch plans and specifications had been prepared and the estimated cost of the Carnarvon project was $6,000.

Mr. Pearson said that already had a trained team of experts that has been working on the South Saskatchewan River dam and irrigation project.

"The first part of any program," he said, "must be water for Canadians for future generations, so there will be no shortage here."

"There should be no exports, without ample evidence that all future needs are assured."

A major step, he said, must be diversion of some major rivers. In the past two years, he said, he had gathered a great deal of information on this subject.

eral politics and Mr. Diefenbaker would retire after the election.

The meeting with the Manitoba cabinet, Mr. Diefenbaker said, was an "example of the unity in the party which is now causing so much fear and concern in the Liberal party."

SPELLS TERMS

Within the last week, he recalled, there had been all kinds of statements by "pundits" and others about an agreement with Roblin—"with the terms of the plot, all spelled out."

"I don't know what their explanation will be now," he laughed. "All the details were there. The arrangements were made... one, two, three."

SERIAL STORY

"One or two of those who wrote these things will have to write another section."

"It's a serial story," Roblin chimed in.

"Not a serious story," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

The two men, with Premier Robarts of Ontario, are to appear at a huge rally in Toronto on October 1.

At Winnipeg, Mr. Diefenbaker focused attention on the troubles of farmers in harvesting crops because of the bad weather.

Liberals Given Do's, Don'ts For Campaign

By FRASER KELLY
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Pearson made the big speech but it was Finance Minister Gordon who dealt with the basics.

He gave some 380 Liberal candidates and workers the do's and don'ts of the campaign in a closed session here Tuesday. Here are some of them.

Do: Stress the Party record

Do: Play up the Canada Pension Plan

Do: Look confident at all times

Don't: Call Mr. Pearson Mike. Use Mr. Prime Minister

Don't: Attack Mr. Diefenbaker personally

OTHER ADVICE

Of course Mr. Gordon, who is campaign chairman, gave out all sorts of advice such as how to get good publicity, how to use radio and television most effectively.

At a news conference after the closed session Mr. Gordon ducked questions about how much the campaign will cost.

"It won't cost nearly as much as people think," he answered.

MAY NOT ANSWER

He said he didn't think the Prime Minister would answer the scandal charges being levelled at him by Opposition leaders.

"We're fighting this campaign on much more positive issues than that," he said. "But nobody is much keener on high morality in public office than the Prime Minister and his cabinet."

TWO AREAS

He said his party would concentrate on winning seats in the two areas it has no representation—the Prairie and south-western Ontario.

When asked if that meant the party planned to spend more money in these areas, he replied: "We don't think money wins elections. We're putting more effort into it."

IN NORTHERLAND

He said he thought the Prime Minister would campaign in Northernland riding where Pauline Jewett is fighting former Conservative cabinet minister George Hees "if he thinks it is necessary."

There were signs that the Pearson team will attempt to make the national flag a campaign issue.

BIG MAPLE LEAF

Mr. Pearson spoke with a huge red maple leaf on the wall behind him. There were miniature flags at all tables and the name tags bore red maple leaves.

The Prime Minister boasted of the flag in his speech and he referred the six months of bitter opposition to it staged by the opposition parties.

FLAG NOT ISSUE

When Mr. Gordon was asked if the Prime Minister intended to use the flag as an issue—thereby sparking a response by its opponents, he said: "I would think that was the last thing Mr. Pearson would like to see happen."

FORMER EVANGELIST

After the news conference federal organizer Keith Davy disclosed that Charles Templeton, the former world-famous evangelist and now Toronto advertising executive, would speak on the Prairies for the party.

"He will speak at a nomination meeting and two conventions in Saskatchewan," Mr. Davy said. "It works out well. We'll ask him to go back again."

Murray Scores 'Myth'

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — W. H. Murray, speaker of the House and Social Credit MLA for Prince Rupert, said Monday "representation by population is a myth" that is perpetrated by the "metropolitan press."

He told the provincial redistribution commission that instead of cutting the number of northern ridings the commission should increase it by at least one.

BASED ON NEED

"... Representation by population is a myth, and is primarily a product of the powerful and voracious metropolitan press that dominates the public mind.

"What we should be striving towards is proper and effective representation based on need as well as numbers."

He said most of B.C.'s wealth comes from northern rural areas and that a solution to representation problems on the "representation-by-population basis would be ridiculous in the extreme."

Wealthy Widow Publicity Shy

By JO BALL

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—There's little in her home to indicate Marie Tippit is a wealthy woman.

A new car stands in the driveway and a color television is in the living room. But the furniture shows the wear of three active children. The house, like the neighborhood, is modest.

And Mrs. Tippit does the housework herself.

The attractive brunette is the widow of J. D. Tippit, the Dallas police officer killed by President John F. Kennedy's assassin fired. Oswald fled to a nearby theatre where officers arrested him.

Tippit's death brought spontaneous sympathy from around the world. His widow received thousands of letters with money enclosed.

The total: $347,579. Half of it went into a trust fund for the Tippit children. The widow received most of the rest.

But she didn't go on a spending spree.

"I want the children to grow up just like they would have if J.D. were still with us," she said. "I want them to learn to earn their way in the world just the way their father had to. If you make it easy for them, they won't know how when they grow up."

***

The children, Curtis, 6; Brenda, 9; and Allen, 15, received the same allowance they had before their father was killed.

Mrs. Tippit lives on a strict budget. She watches her pennies at the supermarket.

She still gets letters in connection with the assassination, some with contributions.

The policeman's widow, however, shies from publicity.

"People don't realize that we are grateful for their help, but want to go on living our same life," she said.

New Drug Arrests?

VANCOUVER (CP) — An undercover RCMP agent was credited Monday with smashing a narcotics ring after the arrest of 16 persons on charges involving trafficking in heroin and illegal possession of barbiturates.

Police promised more arrests would follow.

Const. William Duckworth, 27, gathered information leading to the arrests after living as a narcotic addict in the world of Vancouver's Skid Road area for months.

The officer was kept under observation by members of drug squads during his investigation.

Police — acting on reports by Duckworth — began raids last Tuesday night and 210 capsules of heroin were seized in 48 hours.

The Skid Road area was described as being "alive" with heroin peddling last week when a large shipment of drugs was smuggled into the city.

Dr. Boehme entered a plea of not guilty to the first-degree assault charge and Judge Hardyne Soule set the trial to begin Monday, Jan. 24, 1966.

In 1963, Dr. Boehme was accused of first-degree assault in Kitsap County, where the prosecutor alleged he attempted to poison his second wife, Dorothy, 36.

ACQUITTED

In that case he was acquitted, but his wife died three months later of natural causes and he married his present wife, who was a material witness in the first trial and who once had been engaged to marry the prosecutor, Gordon Walgren.

Tuesday morning, Boehme's attorney, Frank Peters, claimed the charge was faulty in that it was not specific enough.

MORE FACTS

Judge Soule ordered the prosecution to make the facts more definite and certain.

In a second court appearance Judge Soule denied a motion by Peters to dismiss the charge.

NOT HARMFUL

Peters claimed that the newly-submitted bill of particulars stated the drug alleged to have been administered to Mrs. Boehme was promazine, a tranquilizer and not obnoxious or harmful.

Prosecutor John McCutcheon answered that the situation is "like brandy."

CAN BE GOOD

"It can be good for a sick person, but too much brandy can kill you."

McCutcheon said the state did not allege how much of the drug was administered.

Delayed Twin Twice Size

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — A young Yugoslavian peasant woman has given birth to two sons in 25 days, the Tanjug news agency said Tuesday.

It said doctors had as yet found no explanation for the delayed birth of the second twin, "but the two brothers — Nikola, who is 25 days older than his brother, Miro — are well and making good progress."

Tanjug said Janja Kralj, from the village of Bradac in Bosnia, gave birth to Nikola on Aug. 14. He weighed 5½ pounds.

"What struck me was that my stomach was still large," Janja was quoted as saying. "Only when the pain for the second birth started did I realize that I was still with child."

When Miro was born he weighed 11 pounds, twice as much as his brother, said Tanjug.

Janja's husband Andrija, said "I never imagined that I would become a father again in so short a time."

Loans Urged For Old Homes

EDMONTON (CP) — A University of British Columbia professor suggested Tuesday that people buying older houses be able to get a National Housing Act loan provided they agreed to spend at least 20 per cent of the purchase price on reconstruction.

Such a plan, Philip White told the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards, would help stop the general decline of older houses.

Girl's Death Ruled Unnatural

VANCOUVER (CP) — A coroner's inquest ruled Tuesday that Karen Lie, 16, died an unnatural death as a result of asphyxiation.

The ruling was handed down after city pathologist Dr. T. R. Harrison testified he could not say precisely how the girl died other than by asphyxiation.

The girl's nude body was found in a blood-soaked bed in a downtown hotel here Sept. 13. She apparently had been dead for at least one day.

Coroner Glen McDonald said the case was still under intensive investigation by police. A Calgary man in whose name the hotel room was registered was being sought for questioning.

Mr. McDonald also ordered police authorities to provide the city prosecutor with a transcript of the inquest "with a view to possible prosecution" of a man for contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Day in Viet Nam

Plane Toll Biggest Yet

SAIGON (UPI) — Eight American aircraft were lost Monday in combat operations against the Communists in North and South Viet Nam. It was one of the most costly days for the United States in the air war.

The Communists claimed 16 U.S. planes were shot down Monday.

The air war continued, however. Bombers and fighters, including B-52s from Guam, pounded Communist targets in North and South Viet Nam Tuesday.

On the ground, paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Brigade wound up Operation Gibraltar, during which they outfought numerically-superior Viet Cong forces. Clean-up forces on the Communist in North and South Viet Nam. It was one of the most costly days for the United States in the air war.

Losses by the brigade were described as light to moderate.

Also found in what had been a Viet Cong stronghold in the central highlands were large quantities of opium. Brigade officers said the drugs helped explain the "half-crazed" look of the Viet Cong, some of whom charged on after being shot four or five times.

Pattern Changes

BOTH THE INDIA and Pakistan governments appeared late yesterday to be cautiously receptive to the idea of a cease-fire, and there was cause for optimism in the United Nations Security Council which had voted unanimously to call upon the warring neighbors to halt hostilities by today.

But Chinese forces, meanwhile, have been reported across the frontier into Sikkim, the little mountain kingdom which is a protectorate of India, and their ultimatum to New Delhi to demolish military posts which they charge have been constructed on Chinese (Tibetan) soil expires today.

So, with a cease-fire a possibility between India and Pakistan the threat of an even graver confrontation emerges from the misty mountain passes of Sikkim, which lead to the great plain of India.

On Formosa Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalist government is making threatening gestures towards the mainland, and the marshal's eldest son has undertaken overtures to the United States for more military aid and approval of an assault across the Taiwan Strait towards Amoy and Swatow on the mainland when the time is propitious.

The Asian political muddle grows more and more chaotic.

But there is one side-effect growing out of all this violence and threat: an apparent new alignment of world powers.

Mr. Andrew Kopkind, writing for England's New Statesman from Washington, points out: "... America and Russia have for several years had more interests in common than they have in contest. To the surprise of everyone's life has been how charitable the Russians have been over Viet Nam. America's allies have been far more beastly about it. Now the Russians seem to want desperately to co-operate with the United States in quietening the Indian war. Dean Rusk finds himself in the unbelievable position of commending the Soviet leaders for their constructive suggestions, and none dares call it treason."

Extraordinary? Not really. Russia is realistic, and the simple fact is that a bellicose and voracious China, with very obvious ambitions to dominate all Asia east of the Mongolian line, is a most uncomfortable neighbor.

Russia cannot afford to be complacent even in the sacred name of world revolution.

Distasteful Idea

IT IS ONE THING to invoke the lie detector test when a person is under suspicion of some offence, but surely another to employ it without any such cause. Yet this is what Canadian police chiefs at a recent convention in Niagara Falls discussed in relation to the selection of police recruits.

Apparently the lie detector is used extensively in the United States when screening police applicants, but this is no reason for its introduction in this country. The idea finds favor with the Vancouver chief, however, who hopes to adopt it within the next year, but most other chiefs frowned on the use of the detector in this way.

The commissioner of the Ontario provincial force for one said that the OPP would never invoke such a test when a recruit applies for admission, and the Calgary chief, while employing it in cases of suspected staff offences, was wary of its effect on prospective police officers.

"Honest men would resent it, and it would do our recruitment program harm." It ought to. "It would be an unwelcome feature of employment if it were assumed at the outset that the applicant for a job might be a liar. Such an idea is thoroughly distasteful."

Happily the conference took no official stand on the subject, which was a tribute to the majority belief that a recruit's veracity might be no more suspect than that of the chiefs themselves.

Honesty should be taken for granted until events prove otherwise, and it is to be hoped for instance that the Victoria area police forces never depart from this proposition when enrolling new recruits.

Vain Effort

IT CAN BE SAID for Social Credit leader Robert Thompson that as a parliamentarian he has convinced most Canadians that he is a man both of high moral principle and of good sense. This, in today's idiom, is the image he projects.

Such being the case, there is a question he ought at this time to be asking himself. It is whether there is, in a political sense, either moral or practical justification for leading his party—if that is what it can be called on the federal scene—into a campaign for seats in the House of Commons.

Mr. Thompson predicts that the general election in November will result in gains for his party, although it does not intend to campaign in Quebec. He says he expects this advancement in Social Credit representation because of what he sees as Mr. Diefenbaker's "weakened" position in Alberta and because of dissatisfaction with the federal government's policies among supporters of the British Columbia and Alberta Social Credit parties.

But really he should be able to see that his fine dream of 1963 is hopelessly smashed. He was the leader of 23 other Social Credit MPs then, 20 of them from Quebec. Now the last two Quebec Social Crediters of the five that remained under this party label after Real Caouette's Creditiste breakaway have announced their departure, one to seek office as an independent and the other hoping to be a Liberal candidate. His ex-MP followers are down to three. As a national force, Social Credit is discredited.

Mr. Thompson nevertheless purports to reckon that his party has an excellent chance in some 15 constituencies where in the last election Socials ran second. In fact the reasonable view must be that the chances of Social Credit candidates are excellent in no constituency except perhaps the leader's own, for there is little good or appealing purpose to electing a small splinter to Parliament.

All that Social Credit participation in the election campaign can be counted on to do, in fact, is to drain off some votes that could be used to better avail.

Hopefully, the great majority of voters will see it this way. But preferably, Mr. Thompson and his party organization also would.

... and quite a bit in between elections, too!"

Soviet Leadership Works Smoothly

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW from London

AS the Soviet leadership gets back into its stride after the holiday season it can congratulate itself on approaching the end of its first year without a visible tremor.

It has been a difficult year, too, with the Chinese problem as prickly as ever and magnified by Viet Nam, with the economy creaking badly in many parts, and with the unlooked-for disaster to the harvest—the result of drought in the virgin lands and heavy rains and floods in the west.

But the government has scarcely creaked at all. It has, indeed, to all appearances worked so smoothly that we must revise certain earlier assumptions about its provisional nature. There has been no major purge. A number of Khrushchev's proteges were quietly dropped, a number of his victims brought back into circulation; no more.

Alexei N. Kosygin, as prime minister, has gone on as he started, the economist in office, quietly presiding over extremely complex and far-reaching reforms in the management of industry.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, as first secretary, after a very nondescript start has gained greatly in weight, and, without in the least suggesting a personal build-up on Khrushchev's lines, has in recent months developed a character of his own. The picture of his impressive performance in agriculture has been marred by the harvest failure and the need to buy so much wheat from abroad; but the morale of all those concerned with food production is higher than at any time since the collectivization 35 years ago.

The present mood is strikingly different from the mood which followed the death of Stalin. Then there was indeed disarray, with powerful individuals as various in their views as Molotov, Beria, Malenkov and Khrushchev, loudly insisting on the collectiveness of their leadership and demonstrating their togetherness, sometimes to the point of farce—while all the time very obviously engaged in a savage battle for power.

Now, although nobody talks about collective government, there appears to be genuine accord. The men who united to put down Khrushchev last October still work well together. Obviously they must differ about many things, and some of them—Shelepin, the ex-Komsomol leader and police chief, Polyansky, Podgorny, Maslennikov—elevated perhaps to counter-balance Shelepin's swift rise—may nurse ambitions inimical to the indefinite continuation of the present troika: Brezhnev, Kosygin and Soviet President Anastas Mikoyan. But the collective persists and there is no outward sign of any imminent break.

The reason for this seems to be that the present leadership members of the praesidium and party secretariat see eye-to-eye over a number of key issues: defensive unity in face of China; maintenance of reasonable relations with the United States; adoption of the Togliatti memorandum as a basis for inter-party discussions; continuation of the development of what is known as Liberalism in industry; growing emphasis on the expansion of consumer goods and public services; heavily increased investment in agriculture and tentative measures, some radical, to amend the collective and state farm system in the interests of the peasantry.

Sooner or later the party and government will have to give definite shape to various movements. For some time past the party has been preparing for a plenum of the central committee which will define in detail the way in which consumer demand is to be reconciled with central planning and with managerial enterprise, also precisely what indexes are to be used in regulating prices and determining profits.

If this plenum takes place, as it should, fairly soon, it should also prepare the ground for the 23rd Party Congress. This will have to approve the new five-year plan and formalize a great number of decisions—some already taken, some hinted at, involving the future of the economic councils and the central ministries (probably in favor of a rehabilitation of the latter), amendments to the collective farm statutes, and so on.

Only then will it be possible (unless there is a sudden break meanwhile) to decide who is leading and who is led. There could be important changes in the leadership arrived at in a civilized way—e.g., the retirement of the old warhorse Shcherbin from the praesidium, possibly of Mikoyan from the presidency, which would open the way for a new generation of leaders.

Sooner or later the party and government will have to give definite shape to various movements. For some time past the party has been preparing for a plenum of the central committee which will define in detail the way in which consumer demand is to be reconciled with central planning and with the report of the restaurant association seems to indicate there is little hope of success in the proposed civic restaurant.

If a restaurant fails it is usually a very expensive failure. Possibly the city council should take another look at the problem. There is no use compounding an honest error.

The Centennial Square is a great achievement and it would be a pity to have it shadowed by an expensive experiment almost doomed to failure.

Former MPs

A leading editorial in the Colonist charges Mr. David Groos, former Liberal member for Victoria, with "sailing under false colors."

Unintentionally you have made it extremely difficult for voters in Esquimalt-Saanich to support Mr. George Chatterton, the former Conservative member.

The sins of commission which prompt you to use the words "arrogant assumption" with respect to Mr. Groos have been multiplied by Mr. Chatterton who, on the basis of your arguments, cannot be supported by "An Independent Newspaper."

Mr. Groos made a local distribution of a questionnaire which he asked to be filled in and returned to him at Ottawa. He also used his former parliamentary status of MP.

At the beginning of last week I received three letters (circular) from Mr. George Chatterton, MP. One of the letters bears the caption "Your M.P. Reports" and is dated August 30; a second letter captioned "Re: Election" is dated September 6; the third letter asking for "campaign funds" for advertising and publicity" is dated September 8.

At the bottom of the first two letters, there is the following notation: "NOT PRINTED OR MAILED AT PUBLIC EXPENSE." All letters were from Mr. Chatterton MP, and were enclosed in an envelope bearing postal franking of September 10, House of Commons, Free-CANADA-franco.

To make matters worse, all three letters—including the appeal for funds—were typed on House of Commons stationery. Even the No. 10 envelope was government stationery.

You have placed Esquimalt-Saanich voters on the horns of a dilemma. You have advanced definite arguments why Mr. Groos should not be re-elected. If these arguments are valid how can Esquimalt-Saanich voters be expected to condone all the irregularities of far greater magnitude.

Your editorial bears the title: "Assuming Too Much." What are voters outside the Victoria constituency to assume?

ALBERT W. REID,
4305 Gordon Head Rd.

Editor's note: The Colonist editorial did not "advance definite arguments" why of itself Mr. Groos' questionnaire invalidated his re-election. It took it to task for using the term "MP" after the dissolution of Parliament on September 7 made all members of the House ex-MPs, and viewed his wording of his questionnaire-card as an assumption that he would of necessity be re-elected. With respect to the letters from Mr. Chatterton mentioned by our correspondent, the first two dated respectively August 30 and September 6 are perfectly in order since he was an MP on these dates. If in his third letter dated September 8 he described himself as an MP then he too was guilty of error. As our editorial pointed out the franking privilege of ex-MPs lasts for 10 days after dissolution.

Only Solution

For half a century, we have heard arguments similar to those of J. M. Myrdal, and from the Vancouver area.

St. Paul does not tell us who loves money most, the person who exercises thrift, or the spendthrift, who loves to spend. The code, "Root hog, or die!" taught us to save a pittance of our meagre wages, in the early years of this century, as insurance to survive a workless winter. Now in old age we see these savings dwindle from a form of theft, called inflation, caused chiefly from the never ending strikes, of the never satisfied lovers of more pay.

It can be argued of course, that inflation is an asset, as increased revenues help to balance budgets. We paid on a sack of cement only two cents, where now we pay, over five times as much, due to inflated values, which resemble the Alcazalas of Spain, of the year 1345. These taxes were charged on all commodities of trade, "as often as they were exchanged," and the "monstrous impost" of fourteen per cent, without inflation, ruined industry and commerce.

Since population in B.C. doubles in about thirty years, the only solution to maintain employment and prosperity, is to control the birth rate, to correspond to the increased demands of the employers.

No doubt Jesus and perhaps Paul, and many celibate clergy, would agree with this idea, and many people who are married do so now, as a world of puppers, contributing to a sumptuous living for the very few, is not desirable, in a Christian civilization.

Dateline: Europe

The Old World and Viet Nam

By OTTO VON HABBURG

RECENTLY the American press has been severe in judging Europe. The Old World is accused of lacking understanding for the global implications of the fighting in Southeast Asia, and of taking a neutral, maybe even neutralist, position.

This reaction is understandable. The United States' stake in Viet Nam increases week after week and it is but natural that Washington desires its allies' effective help.

Objectively, nevertheless, Europe's attitude can be understood.

First, the Old World remains an outpost. Not so long ago the Iron Curtain was still a barrier. It is hence logical that there is no desire to weaken one's defenses by accepting responsibilities on the other end of the world, especially in areas where one has had bad experiences. It is furthermore not yet forgotten that at the time when France was fighting in the Vietnamese swamps, its allies not only remained passive, but even loudly denounced Paris for its alleged colonialism and imperialism.

There is yet another fact, rarely mentioned, which influences European thoughts. Rightly or wrongly, the majority does not believe that America is in Viet Nam to stay, despite energetic words and the presence of considerable U.S. forces in Saigon, Bien Hoa, Danang, and Camranh. The reason is that these strong gestures are sometimes accompanied by attitudes which are bound to awaken the suspicion even of the friendly.

From this point of view, Washington's policy toward Free China plays an important role. Those who know Asia are aware that Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's army is one of the most powerful and best trained military forces of the Far East. It is no secret that Taiwan's reserves by far surpass the immediate defensive needs of Nationalist positions. The Republic of China has publicly proposed to send troops to Viet Nam. These offers were rejected by the U.S.A.

In a situation as grave as the present one, it is not customary to refuse help which might be decisive. There must be major political reasons to justify such a strange attitude. Logically it can mean only one thing: some form of withdrawal, completely impossible once the Chinese Nationalist army is in Saigon, is not yet ruled out.

It is in this perspective that European hesitations must be seen. One does not engage in a venture, where the main partner seems unwilling to go all the way. As long as a doubt exists on the question of Free China, nobody will have the right to be astonished, even less to be indignant, that those who know well the risks refuse to give up their cautious reserve.

Doubtful Future

By GAVIN YOUNG from Kuching

Unease in Sarawak

See Sarawak under Indonesian hegemony. For his part, Sukarno probably does not much like the look of these angry Chinese, but finds it convenient, for the implementation of his own "Crush Malaysia" policy, to use them to make life difficult for the British troops and pro-Malaysian politicians.

He and the OCO share the common desire to see the British out. But ironically, at a time when Britain's defence role in Southeast Asia is under review in London, Chinese and Indonesian military activity is one of the things most likely to convince the British and Malaysian governments that the troops must stay. Only they stand today between Sarawak and anarchy.

Behind Kuching's warm facade the grim symptoms of this war on two fronts are there. Grenades kill and wound native civilians and British soldiers in cafes. Explosive devices turn up in odd places like the lavatory of the Kuching museum. Certain roads are subject to ambush and ambush, too, is a constant danger throughout the jungle-matted mountains and ravines of the Indonesian border areas.

In jungle camps, Chinese youths study Communist theory and guerrilla warfare and drill with wooden rifles while they wait for real ones to be smuggled in to them from Indonesia. Leaflets are distributed in Kuching and Sibul and sometimes the police discover a printing press or arms cache. Some 300 suspects have been arrested and a new detention camp is going up near Kuching airport because the present one is inadequate. These days it is wise to have an armed escort on the road westwards to the border.

Along it, 7,500 Chinese farmers and shopkeepers and their families are being "resettled" in five new villages. They will suffer little hardship. The villages are designed to protect the people of the area from intimidation and recruitment by the OCO. Political extremists in Kuching call them "concentration camps."

The OCO leadership has been making an all-out effort to woo the native population by playing on the indigenous Iban's fear of Malay domination that is a lingering hangover from the comparatively recent days of the White Rajahs. The extreme left-wing group in the opposition Sarawak United People's Party (SUPP) is now so strong that the party's more moderate leaders are finding the tail is beginning to wag their dog. The party claims to have 50,000 members—a large number for a political organization in Sarawak. Its chairman is a banker, Ong Kee Hui, and its secretary-general, a leading lawyer and graduate of Nottingham University, Stephen Yong.

I found Mr. Yong, an amiable, round-faced man, sitting on the veranda of a spacious bungalow buttressed with boughs of trees. He favors staying in Malaysia as long as federal ties with Kuala Lumpur are loosened to forestall over-Malayisation and allow Sarawak a strong voice in federal aid for agricultural development, but he seemed prepared to see the British remain for the time being. He thus appeared to deprecate resolutions passed by various branches of the SUPP which have recently called for an immediate referendum on Sarawak's future.

The sudden departure of Singapore from the federation—a decision that was kept secret from the Sarawak government—has increased fears that the Malay-dominated federal government in Kuala Lumpur may act on some major issue in the future without once more consulting it. Sarawak wants to be told that it has a special position in the federation and that its views will be sought and respected.

What is needed now to remove the nasty taste of recent events is some sign of understanding from the federal government and a well-publicized injection of federal aid. The OCO and the extremists of SUPP are the only ones—with President Sukarno—to profit from uncertainty and acrimony.

Hotel Prices Irk Dancers

CARDIFF (CP) — The Royal Winnipeg Ballet is getting a rave reception in the Welsh capital from everybody with the possible exception of a hotel owner whose prices provoked some dancers to walk out of his establishment.

The ballet, touring Britain as part of the Commonwealth Arts Festival, opened here Monday night to what one Cardiff critic described as "the most tremendous ovation yet at this festival."

GREAT RECEPTION

Local ballet writers poured out enthusiastic adjectives like vigorous and versatile, accomplished and excellent to describe the Canadian ballet company.

Seven members of the corps de ballet walked out of the Grand Hotel complaining that prices were too high.

CHEAPER ROOMS

The dancers found cheaper accommodation in bed-and-breakfast guest houses. The hotel management at first said the festival organization, which reserved rooms for the ballet, would have to pay for the vacated rooms. But other visitors later filled the rooms and the hotel waived its claim against the festival.

The performers are required to pay for meals and accommodation during their two-week tour of four British cities out of income that amounts to about $30 a week in the case of the younger dancers.

Basils of the complaint was that the hotel maintained a charge of £2 ($8) a night a person regardless of whether the dancers doubled up two to a room. On North American tours, doubling up cuts the cost of accommodation to about $4 a person a night.

"We get about £31 ($38) a week and have to pay our expenses," one dancer said. "Hotel costs are too high over here."

GUEST HOME

Spending $6 a night would mean about half a dancer's weekly income would go in accommodation.

Bill Harpe, Cardiff festival director, said the company had been offered accommodation in private guest houses at about 30s ($4.50) a night a person but Canada House in London ordered hotel accommodation.

Ceremony

Japanese Band Disbands

TOKYO (UPI) — One of the biggest gangster organizations in Japan went straight Monday—at least officially.

About 100 ranking members of the gang known as the Matsubakai, or "pine leaf society," held a ceremony at a temple in Tokyo to declare the group's dissolution.

POLICE CONTROL

Uchihiro Fujita, "president" of the Matsubakai, read a statement saying the gang had been deprived of practically all means of survival due to increasingly harsh police control over gangsterism.

He burned the gang's flag in the presence of the assembled gang leaders.

MANY ARRESTS

Police have arrested about 1,000 members of the 3,400-man organization over the past year and a half on a variety of charges, but mostly for extortion and gambling. Fujita himself was arrested last June on charges of illegal possession of firearms. He was released from prison for one week—under police surveillance—to allow him to see to the task of disbanding the gang.

BIG INFLUENCE

Three similar major criminal organizations operating in Tokyo and six prefectures surrounding the city disbanded last year.

The Matsubakai, founded in 1933, had extended its sphere of influence to 15 prefectures radiating out from Tokyo.

A police spokesman said they would continue to keep watch on the members of the gang because its subordinate organizations still are in existence.

Stage Censor Cools Off Four Seasons

LONDON (AP) — Britain's stage censor, the lord chamberlain, Tuesday ordered actress Diane Cilento to turn her back on the audience when she does a bare-breasted embrace on stage.

The embrace took place Tuesday night in premiere of Arnold Weaker's play The Four Seasons.

POLITE BUT FIRM
In one of the big scenes the script calls for Miss Cilento and Alan Bates to "bare their breasts and then embrace."

After reading the script, the lord chamberlain's instructions were polite but firm. During the embrace, he said, the actress must always have her back to the audience. She agreed.

Thief Given Time to Walk

SYDNEY, N.S.W. (Reuters) — Raymond Aldridge, 20, pleaded guilty to car theft Tuesday and told the judge he sometimes stole cars when he felt too lazy to walk. He was sentenced to two years in prison.

Blonde Brunette Aims For Career of Own

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The faces in the MGM commissary bore the same message: Who is that brown-haired beauty in the large white hat?

The fact was that many of the studio workers knew her as Mrs. David McCallum, wife of the co-star of The Man from U.N.C.L.E. and most of the time a blonde.

MIGHT BE FUN

"This is a wig," she explained. "I'm not quite sure why I wore it, but I thought it might be fun."

As Jill Ireland, the reason for her being at MGM was not to visit her husband but to prepare for the role of a Russian astronaut in My Favorite Martian.

NO HELP

"I'm working simply because I want to work," she said. "I like to act and I've got to make it on my own, without David's help."

She was doing fine even before the Scottish actor came into her life. Trained in the ballet, she was dancing on English stages from the age of 12. At 18 she was tapped by J. Arthur Rank for a star buildup. During the filming of Robbery Under Arms she met a young actor named David McCallum.

"He drove me home from the studio every night," she recalled. "One night he talked

UBCM Considers Tax Hike Plan

VANCOUVER (CP) — A proposal to increase the minimum civic or municipal property tax to $50 from $1 is to be put before the Union of B.C. Municipalities at its convention opening in Victoria today.

The proposal is being submitted in resolution form by Prince George and is endorsed by the North Central B.C. Municipal Association.

Under existing legislation the $100 provincial homeowner grant is applied first to the homeowner's school taxes and if anything remains is then applied against his general taxes. The minimum tax is $1.

In Vancouver only 170 homeowners pay the $1 minimum but in many rural communities a high percentage of homeowners pay only $1 because the $100 covers their total tax bill.

Close to 800 delegates and their wives are expected to attend the three-day convention in Victoria. Quebec Premier Jean Lesage will speak at a delegates' dinner Thursday.

'New Approach' Automation Study Essential

VANCOUVER (CP) — William Sands, deputy minister of labor for B.C., said Monday a new approach to labor-management relations is needed to deal with the effects of automation.

Mr. Sands said automation-caused changes in employment patterns give new importance to such things as pensions, payment of moving costs, compensation for early retirement and severance pay.

He also warned in a speech to the Canadian Union of Public Employees annual convention here that factory workers are not the only ones who will be affected by automation.

"I am sure on second thought you will recognize it will also be a tremendous factor in shaping the destiny of those engaged in service industries," he said to delegates representing workers in government services.

Fair Site Ruined By Fire

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Wind-fed flames swept through the Tennessee State Fair grounds Monday night, destroying three main buildings and sending thousands of opening night spectators fleeing.

An early morning count showed 17 persons received hospital treatment, nine of them firemen who suffered smoke inhalation.

Mayor Beverly Briley estimated damage between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000.

WIRING BLAMED
Destroyed were the Women's Building, the adjacent Merchant's Building and Administration Building. All were three-story barn-like wooden structures about 50 years old. Destroyed was the grandstand alongside the three buildings.

Concession stands around the main buildings were destroyed and owners fled for their lives. Electrical wiring was believed the cause of the blaze.

City Art Shown In Wales

Three Victoria artists — Mrs. Pat Martin Bates, Richard Cloi-marra and Donald Harvey — are represented in a showing of more than 60 contemporary Canadian drawings and prints opened last week in Cardiff, Wales, by Canadian High Commissioner Lionel Chevrier, in connection with the Commonwealth Festival of the Arts.

Ecumenical Council

Church Bill Passed

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Ecumenical Council Tuesday voted overwhelming approval of the controversial freedom of worship declaration in a victory for council liberals led by U.S. cardinals.

Pope Paul VI personally intervened to halt a last-minute conservative attempt to stop the council from voting.

On the Pope's orders the vote was taken and the council approved the historic document declaring the right of all men to religious liberty by a vote of 1,997 to 224.

OVER-RULING

The Pope overruled the earlier decision of the council's central coordinating commission in forcing the vote. The conservative-dominated commission had met last night and decided to postpone the vote on the grounds there would be too many negative votes which might put the church in a bad light.

When the Pontiff learned of the manoeuvre—the last of a series of delaying tactics by Spanish and Italian-led conservatives—he promptly over-ruled the commission, informed council sources said.

The measure now goes to the Vatican's secretariat for promoting Christian unity for revision according to suggestions made during the five days of debate on the scheme. It then will come back to the council for a final vote.

The declaration was first introduced to the council at its second session in 1963 and has been the target of conservative sniping and delaying tactics in the three sessions since then. In New York, Dr. Sterling W. Brown, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews hailed the council's decision.

Crop Looks Sad

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Harvesting prospects in all three Prairie provinces were described, Tuesday, as gloomy by agricultural officials as wet weather prevented threshing.

The Alberta Wheat Pool in a crop report for the week ended Sept. 19, said harvesting operations had been almost at a standstill for three weeks. In spite of unfavorable weather, some swathing but practically no threshing was done.

The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool said widespread crop damage was caused by rain and snow in the week ended Sept. 19. All areas of the province were affected.

Although drying winds helped the situation in Manitoba during the last three days, showers and cool temperatures were forecast to return, dampening hopes for a return to harvesting.

R. E. English, statistician with Alberta's farm economic branch, said rainy weather has not caused significant damage to crops in Northern Alberta.

McCovey's Error Costly to Giants

By the Canadian Press

Willie McCovey's two-out, bases-loaded error in the sixth inning paved the way for four unearned runs that carried Cincinnati Reds to a 7-4 victory over the National League-leading San Francisco Giants Tuesday night.

The defeat, second in their last 19 games, allied the Giants' lead to three games over Los Angeles Dodgers who trimmed Milwaukee Braves 3-1 at Milwaukee. The third-place Reds moved to within 4½ games of the top.

The Giants led 4-1, with the help of Jim Davenport's three-run homer, going into the sixth, but the Reds rallied for two runs on singles by Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson, Bill Henry's wild pitch and another single by pinch-hitter Tony Perez.

After Deron Johnson fled out, John Edwards doubled and Frank Linzy hit Leo Cardenas with a pitch, loading the bases. Art Shamsky struck out and Tommy Harper followed with a grounder to McCovey.

But the big first baseman fumbled the ball, allowing Perez to race home with the tying run. Pete Rose then singled off Linzy's glove, and Edwards scored the lead run. Pinson's second hit of the inning, a single, clinaxed the rally by sending home two more runs.

DRYSDALE WINS 21ST
At Milwaukee, Don Drysdale pitched a six-hitter for his 21st victory and singled home the decisive run as the Dodgers won their fifth straight.

The lone Braves run came after an error by Maury Wills and was unearned. Los Angeles pitchers have allowed only one earned run in the last 45 innings.

The Dodgers scored twice in the second inning on Jim LeFebvre's home run and successive singles by Wes Parker, Jeff Torborg and Drysdale.

Drysdale added another single in the ninth inning, raising his batting average to .298, highest on the team.

ORIOLES DOWN TWINS
Meanwhile at Minneapolis, Luis Aparicio's single and a bases-loaded walk gave Baltimore Orioles two 10th-inning runs and a 6-4 victory over Minnesota Twins.

The loss prevented the Twins from clinching at least a tie for the American League pennant.

Minnesota's pennant-winning number remains at three—any combination of Twin victories and Orioles losses totalling three gives Minnesota its first pennant. The Twins and Orioles conclude their two-game series here today.

STARTS RALLY
The Orioles, who had led 3-0 earlier, launched their winning rally in the 10th against Dave Boswell with a single by Dick Brown. Jerry Adair forced Brown while trying to sacrifice, but Paul Blair sacrificed, pinch-hitter Norm Siebern walked, and Aparicio drove in a run with a single.

Back in the National League, Ray Sadecki and Hal Woodeshick combined for a five-hit shutout, pitching St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-0 victory over Houston Astros.

WIN FIVE STRAIGHT
Jim Pagliarone's two-out, two-run homer in the ninth lifted Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-5 victory over New York Mets.

Mel Stottlemyre pitched his 13th victory of the season and rookie Horace Clarke belted a grand-slam home run as New York Yankees beat Cleveland Indians 9-4.

Bought Seeds Best

worst kind of mongrels. To come true, the plants must be grown in the strictest isolation, about a mile from their nearest relative. This applies also to swedes, rutabagas and turnips.

Carrots will cross-pollinate between varieties, and seed is worth saving only when a single variety is grown by itself. Rutabagas seem to have no chance of getting themselves fertilized with the pollen from wild parsnips, with unhappy results.

Onions and leeks are a bit more hopeful. Although they are subject to cross-pollination with other members of their families, a distance of 250 yards is enough to protect them against this indignity.

Peas, sweet peas, beans and broad beans are largely self-pollinated in nature, and seeds of good-doers can be saved after ripening on the vine with some hope of establishing a quality strain. Lettuce is a self-pollinating plant and need not be grown in isolation. Beets, celery and radish, however, got all crossed up unless grown by themselves, and it is generally unprofitable to grow them in mixed groups. Hybrid corn loses its characteristic first-generation vigor when seed is saved.

It is a different story with flowers.

With most of them, it seemed as if saved with some prospect of good results, always providing that care is taken to collect from only the best plants, and to allow the seeds enough time to mature and ripen on the plant before gathering. Novice gardeners have a tendency to gather unripe seed, often incapable of germinating.

* * *

Mignonette, flowering flax and California poppy all come fairly true from their own seed. But where annuals have been planted in a variety of colors, some cross-pollination takes place, and the children of such a union may be any color, with too many muddy or wishy-washy shades.

With the perennial flowers, a fairly simple rule of thumb applies: If the plant is a hybrid, created through the mating of two different wild or species kinds, it is unlikely that the seeds will come true. This is especially noticeable in Russell lupins.

If the plant is a true species—identical with the forms found in the wild—you can save seed with every prospect that the children will resemble their parents. Similarly, most of our ornamental and shade trees and our flowering shrubs will come true from home-saved seeds.

If Court Moves Away

Curtis Sees Threat To Regional Plans

By AL ARNASON

Saanich voters "could not" to regional government proposals in the Greater Victoria area if the municipality's court facilities are forced to move to downtown Victoria, says Reeve Hugh Curtis.

"As you know, I have been in favor of many of the proposals for regional government," said the reeve Tuesday, "but I fear the people of Saanich may vote 'no' to it, if this is a taste of it."

He said he knew of no way the provincial government could impose regional authority unless it was approved by the voters of the municipalities.

Under provisions of the Magistrate's Act, District Magistrate William Oatler is empowered to choose where the court will be held. He chose the downtown facilities, which are big enough to handle court procedures for all the Greater Victoria communities.

Reeve Curtis said the Saanich facilities must have had approval of the provincial government because a magistrate was sent to the courtroom for about a year—strictly as a Saanich court—before the attorney-general's department ordered it to become a central court for all the southern communities.

"At that time, council was very distressed at the use of the court as a central court," he added.

Before Saanich built its own court facilities, it took part in a central court arrangement in the aged and unsatisfactory old Flisgard Street police station. The station has since been re-modelled and new courtroom facilities installed as a central court for the city and surrounding municipalities.

Saanich is the only other community with its own court facilities.

TELEGRAM SENT
The Saanich Information Committee, a group of citizens dedicated to preservation of Saanich autonomy, has sent a telegram to the attorney-general's department asking for a public statement on the issue.

Chairman Gordon Campbell said the night letter asks the department to state publicly "what statutory provisions" are being invoked by the department to force the municipality to vacate its court facilities.

The committee had earlier written a letter on the same subject, but sent the telegram when members read news accounts of the hassle.

Compensation Meeting Topic
Vancouver Island Nurserymen Allied Trades Association will meet at the Harmony Hall in the Town and Country Shopping Centre at 8 p.m. Thursday to discuss federal government compensation to growers affected by the golden nematode quarantine.

Mr. White explained rock will have to be bought this year because "we can't get enough free."

"We get as much as we can for nothing, but it is usually in small piles."

"We haven't bought any rock for 12 months now, and were lucky last winter that there were no strong storms which did any damage to the fill," he said. "We can't expect that this year."

The marina property is owned by the municipality and rented out to Oak Bay Marina Ltd. on a 30-year lease.

Sea Monster Puzzles Blue Heron

Who said there was no Caddy's breakfast? Ask any blue heron. Particularly on an overcast day at Clover Point. Is the heron fearing he will become Caddy's breakfast? Or is he just looking among because he knows the monster photographer Ralph Fryer caught in his telephoto lens is really a weathered old dead head?

Lesage Here Tonight

Premier Lesage of Quebec is scheduled to arrive here tonight for a whirlwind one-day visit to Victoria which will feature three major addresses.

He will be met on arrival at Patricia Bay Airport at 9:50 p.m. by Mayor Wilson and officials of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

At 9:30 a.m. Thursday, following a press conference at the Student Union Building on the Gordon Head campus, Mr. Lesage will address University of Victoria students.

Premier Lesage will call on Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes at Government House before going to the Empress Hotel, where he is scheduled to speak at a joint meeting of the Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs.

In the afternoon he will probably play a round of golf with Mayor Wilson on the Oak Bay links.

At 6:30 p.m., Mr. Lesage will be the principal speaker at a dinner for UBCM delegates in the Curling Club.

Sportsman Calls for Time in Vain

Host Who Won't Be There

Donald Smyth is wondering what he'll say next month when two Russian Olympic volleyball teams arrive in Victoria.

As president of the Canadian Volleyball Association, Mr. Smyth had planned to accompany the Russians for a week during a cross-country exhibition tour while they play against U.S. Olympic teams.

But as a biology teacher at Victoria High, Mr. Smyth will be kept in his classroom. On Monday the Greater Victoria School Board rejected his request for leave of absence Oct. 14 to 22.

Trustees were mainly concerned about the precedent that his leave of absence would create for other teachers. They also noted that substitute biology teachers are hard to find.

The U.S. and Russian men's and women's teams will play exhibition games Oct. 15 at the Gordon Head campus of the University of Victoria, and at Victoria High.

Mr. Smyth was to have represented Canada and acted as trouble-shooter when the Russians went east.

"It's put the Canadian Volleyball Association in a very difficult situation," he said Tuesday.

Mr. Smyth, 36, of 722 Cadboro Bay Road, is a graduate in physical education and coached volleyball in university.

Last year he swallowed disappointment when the school board turned down his request for leave of absence to go to the Olympics in Tokyo as Canadian delegate to the World Volleyball Congress. The U.S. acted as Canada's proxy.

"When a person is in a position to represent his country like this, he ought to be able to," he believes.

He was prepared to forfeit salary for the time he was away, and pay his own travel costs.

"It's time I want, more than anything else," he said.

Epidemic Feared

Plaza Given 45 Days To Clean Up Sewage

Fearing the possibility of an epidemic, members of the Metropolitan Board of Health have given the proprietors of Colwood Shopping Plaza 45 days to clean up a sewage problem in the area.

If the situation, which involves the dumping of effluent into a ditch and a resulting pool on Colwood golf course, is not cleaned up in 45 days, dating from Sept. 10, they will be brought into court under provincial sanitary regulations.

PRELIMINARY STEPS
Meanwhile, preliminary steps will be taken to institute court action in case it is needed.

In the event of an epidemic, the shopping centre will be closed down at once.

In a letter to the board following complaints of the dumping and a threat of court action, the company, Tanboos Yarrow Ltd., said that it was undertaking an expensive program to treat the flow of effluent from the shopping centre and make it harmless.

TO GRAVEL BASE
The firm has a drilling rig standing by to take care of the Colwood golf course situation, it said.

"I suppose they intend to dig holes in the golf course down to the gravel base and let the effluent flow away," said Senior Medical Health Officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread.

"And what if an epidemic breaks out?" asked Dr. T. L. Jansch.

DOUBLE EFFECTIVENESS
"I doubt very much the effectiveness of this corrective method and I would be very much afraid if we allowed the company the 45 days it asks as a period of grace," he added.

Board chairman Reeve R. G. Lee of Central Saanich said that if the matter is taken to court it is likely that the judge would feel that the company should have been given an opportunity to try its corrective method.

Health of the people in the community is a far more important consideration, Dr. Jansch said.

Indian Housing

Ottawa Letter Full of 'Ifs'

By A. H. MURPHY

A Metropolitan Board of Health report showing primitive housing conditions on eight district Indian reservations has been answered from Ottawa by a letter "with a lot of 'ifs' in it."

The board of health letter to the federal department of Indian Affairs sent months ago, showed that, in one instance, only 20 houses out of 185 on one reserve had water pumped in; it showed that very few houses were connected to public sewers and that sanitary conditions and garbage disposal were sub-standard.

The reply from a representative of the minister, said such conditions are "prime targets of concern."

With limited funds available, it pointed out, solution of such major problems has not been possible quickly. Surveys have been made and information obtained.

It was hoped that further constructive steps would be taken now that there were "tentative plans to request an increase in funds for this work."

If funds are forthcoming, conditions should be "substantially improved."

The letter writer was sure the minister "would be most appreciative of your representation on behalf of the Indian reserves" and hoped that such interests would continue.

"Sure a lot of 'ifs' in that letter," said board member Dr. T. L. Jansch.

Plumper Bay Choker

New Shavings Deal Signals Smoke End

Plumper Bay sawmill smoke, a source of choking rage to View Royal and Gorge residents for years, will be gone before the new year, members of the Metropolitan Board of Health were told Tuesday.

The nuisance, subject of numerous profane private protests and several official petitions, will end when Plumper Bay Sawmills Ltd. closes the two beehive burners, on the property.

NEW DEAL
Sawdust burning, which has caused 75 per cent of the smoke, will end because of a contract the sawmill firm has negotiated with Crown Zellerbach Corporation.

Dredging operations are in progress now to enable large scows to be moved into position near the mill to haul away sawdust.

SHAVINGS USED
The problem of planer shavings may also be solved by the end of the year, says a letter from the firm's solicitors, Cox, Taylor & Company. Machinery may be installed to process the shavings so that they also may be utilized by Crown Zellerbach.

Such machinery, if found effective, will be installed this year so that the lesser nuisance of smoke from the burning of planer shavings will also be eliminated.

NO BURNING
There will then be no burning of any kind at Plumper Bay, as the mill is operated by electricity.

"Well, this is certainly a step in the right direction," said the board chairman, Reeve R. G. Lee of Central Saanich.

RELIEF COMING
"I imagine the people in View Royal can live with this problem a little longer if they know relief is in sight. And I imagine that if the situation is not corrected you will take action under the Health Act, will you not?" the reeve asked Senior Medical Health Officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread.

"Right," replied the doctor.

Fill Vacancy Quickly --Trustee

If something isn't done soon about the appointment of an assistant medical health officer, Greater Victoria School Board is going to be pretty upset, trustee Mrs. A. B. Thompson told members of the Metropolitan Board of Health Tuesday.

The vacancy left by the retirement of Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy has existed for a year now, said Mrs. Thompson, who is also a member of the board of health, and the school health program is suffering. It is time to get moving, she said.

HASSLE
The appointment, which has been held up partly by a hassle between the City of Victoria and the board, will be strongly recommended to city council by its representatives on the board, Ald. Lily Wilson.

Echoing the feeling of city council, Ald. Wilson asked if it was not possible to appoint a general practitioner to the post instead of a specialist in public health.

"I'm a general practitioner and I wouldn't want to take the responsibility," said Dr. T. L. Jansch, from School District 61.

RECOMMENDATION
"Then I'll make the recommendation to the city," said Ald. Wilson.

An earlier advertisement, with a salary range from $11,820 to $13,080, did not bring a satisfactory application, so member municipalities of the health board will be asked to approve a new advertisement with a salary range from $12,600 to $14,220 over a period of four years, with further increases over a further four years to $15,300.

Sanitation

Expert Due Today

An American sanitation expert—Dr. John H. Winneberger of Berkeley, Calif.—arrives here today to study local sewage disposal problems.

While in Victoria he may appear as a witness in the appeal being pressed by Lloyd Smith, 137 Kingham Place, against the permit being issued by the Pollution Control Board to Saanich municipality allowing an additional 25,000 gallons a day of treated effluent to be dumped into Colquhoun Creek.

HEARING TUESDAY
The appeal will be heard by the lieutenant-governor-in-council at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the executive chambers of the legislative buildings.

Dr. Winneberger is currently working on a disposal study for the U.S. government at the University of California in Berkeley.

Dr. Winneberger leaves Victoria Sept. 23.

Reds Weigh Brass

A retired RCN commander will seek the Victoria Communist Party nomination at its meeting Friday.

He is W. F. E. Morrison, 65, a former long-time Parksville resident and village councillor, said Vancouver Island party secretary Ernest Knott.

MOST VOTES
Cndr. Morrison ran on the Communist ticket in the Comox-Alberni riding in 1958, when he polled 2,000 votes, the largest number of votes given any Communist candidate in the election, said Mr. Knott.

"We felt we should keep up Victoria's naval tradition. The Liberals have Capt. Groos and the Tories have a naval padre. The best we could do was a commander. We would have liked to have had an admiral—but you can't have everything," Mr. Knott laughed.

The candidate will speak at a party nominating convention at 8 p.m. Monday in the Williams Hall, 749 Broughton.

Another speaker will be Nelson Clarke, national Communist Party campaign Chairman and national organizer.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 17-year-old son quit high school to join the Navy. My husband and I were glad to see him make this decision because he was flunking in every subject and he was getting out of hand at home. We thought the Navy might make a man out of him.

Yesterday, he wrote that he is bringing a "24-year-old" girl home. The "girl" works at the base and I'm sure she has had a lot more experience with members of the opposite sex than our son. He says nothing in his letter about the girl's background, her family, how he met her, or his feelings for her.

What do we do now? Should we hide our feeling or should we tell our son the door is closed if he can't make a better selection than that?—D.R.B.

Dear D.R.B.: When a son writes that he is bringing a girl home my advice is to keep the door open—and be pleasant, even if the girl turns out to be a gorilla with six eyes.

No teen-ager ever accepted the fact that his selection was a poor one because his folks told him so. Therefore, keep smiling. Dearie, if it kills you and don't make the mistake of knocking the girl so hard that he marries her just to prove you are wrong.

***
Dear Ann Landers: I am worried. Recently I read a letter in your column from a woman who wrote that she is single and happy. You said, "Marriage is not for everyone." Maybe I am one of those—but I hope not.

I am 19, a sophomore in college and better than average looking. I feel ill at ease with people I don't know. Every girl in the room seems better poised than I. Although I find men appealing I've had very few dates. Most of my friends have steady boyfriends, or at least a fellow who asks them out on a Saturday night, but not me.

I love old houses and antiques. I'm a good cook. I enjoy gardening and sewing. I can't wait to have a home and family of my own. The thought of a life alone is depressing. Can you say something to cheer me up?—BOSTON BETTY

Dear Betty: The right man hasn't come along yet, but he will one day—and when he does you'll know it. Girls who get rushed off their feet in their teens are not necessarily the ones who make the best marriages, so stop fretting.

You sound like a sensible dame with good values and the man who wants a girl with your qualities will recognize them. What's more, you'll recognize him.

Too Real

EDINBURGH (CP)—Critics praised the realistic production of Macbeth at the Edinburgh Festival but it was too real for Margaret Waddell, sitting in the front row. When she came out of the theatre, she found her suit spattered with stage blood from the battle scene. The management footed her cleaning bill.

Willa LeBoutillier Bride of T. P. Leason

Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the Metropolitan United Church for the recent afternoon ceremony uniting in marriage Willa Gay LeBoutillier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. LeBoutillier, Oliver Street and Thomas P. Leason Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Leason, Uganda Crescent.

The lovely bride was dressed in a slender white chiton gown styled with full length sleeves gathered at the wrist, a scoop neckline and a slim skirt held in soft folds at the back from a gathered waistline. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom, and an antique gold bracelet, a present from her godmother, Mrs. Helmuth Preiswerk. Her bouffant veil of illusion net was held by a cluster of small sheer organza flowers entwined with tiny sprays of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Floor length identically styled gowns in blue and pink crystal-line organza were worn by the matron of honor, Mrs. Colin Tennyson and junior bridesmaid, Miss Deborah Leason, sisters of the bride and groom. They wore matching headpieces and carried bouquets of white gladioli and pink carnations.

Mr. Murray Lancelotti was best man and ushers were Mr. Gary LeBoutillier, brother of the bride and Mr. John Wilkes.

A garden reception was held at the Old England Inn. Mr. Helmuth Preiswerk proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon trip to Longbeach and other points the bride wore a pink Italian knit suit with orchid corsage en tone and white accessories.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding were the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. A. Ballantyne and maternal aunt, Mrs. R. Nickolson and children.

Miss Jewett

'Hers, Not Hees!'

Colonist Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA — Pauline has become the new darling of the Liberal party.

And most of the Liberal money says she'll knock off Conservative glamour boy and former Trade and Commerce Minister George Hees in Northumberland riding.

Miss Pauline Jewett, the 43-year-old political science teacher, was given a thunderous ovation as she introduced Prime Minister Pearson at his campaign kickoff here Tuesday.

Mr. Pearson said he was confident that the Northumberland riding would not turn into peril for Pauline.

He said she has every reason for confidence in believing she will beat the "grassroots dirt farmer from the Montreal stock exchange."

Finance Minister Walter Gordon described Miss Jewett as the Liberal party's "favorite giant killer."

Federal organizer Keith Davey said: "She'll win even better now that Hees is in. There is a great sympathy vote."

Miss Jewett herself seemed confident. She said the response since Mr. Hees announced he would run against her had been "unbelievable."

"I feel it in my bones we're going to sweep to victory across the nation," she said. Her slogan for the campaign: "It's hers, not Hees."

Hair No Headache In Classroom Now

By BILL STAVDAL

Hair is no headache in the classroom this term.

Beats mops which sprouted unchecked all summer have been cut back to suit authority, say Greater Victoria School District's five senior high school principals.

They, on the other hand, concede that teen-agers are wearing hair longer nowadays. "Get a cut" ultimatums are being issued with discretion, and there have been no reported showdowns between student and school.

"I expected a lot of long hair, but I've been remarkably surprised," said Mount View High principal Robert Huddelstone on Tuesday.

MANY TRIMMED

"You'd be amazed at how many boys had their hair cut just before they got back to school."

Said Victoria High's principal, G. A. Thomson:

"There's been the odd one told to get his hair cut, but most of the students are very reasonable."

Cuts have been suggested to a few boys, said Oak Bay High vice-principal Donald Oliver, but there are no problems.

"Much fewer problems than I expected," commented Clive Kelly, Head of Esquimalt High.

Boys' hair is generally longer and girls' hair higher, reported Eric Forster of Mt. Douglas High.

"We seem to be in fashion, but nothing beyond what is normal," he said.

One year ago, the school board issued a policy statement on student hair styles and clothing. Girl's hair is to be "simple and neat," make-up "modest and simple," and tight skirts and sweaters are "not considered suitable."

CONVENTIONAL

Boys' hair is to be short and conventional, "without fancy cuts or sideburns."

Among other things, motorcycle jackets are banned in class.

But teacher and principal are left to administer board's policy, says Joseph Chell, assistant district superintendent.

AVOID ISSUE

The school system has tried to avoid making an issue of hair styles and dress, Mr. Chell said Tuesday. The district wants to keep students looking fairly conventional without throwing down a gauntlet.

Principals like Eric Forster are willing to go along with a moderate fashion trend. He philosophizes:

"If everyone wore hair long and some youngster came to school with it cut short, I imagine things would be pretty tough on him."

Around Town

Schools Plan Piano Lessons

Greater Victoria School Board will launch an experimental piano instruction program for primary school pupils.

The board Monday also approved a 10-week series of student band and orchestra concerts in McPherson Playhouse.

The piano instruction experiment is for children in Grades 2 and 3. It will offer 16 half-hour lessons spread over eight weeks at a cost of $3.

The lessons will be taken after regular school hours.

The program will be offered at first in three or four schools, with preference for those now lacking instrumental classes.

Other board business:

Trustees rejected the request of Hope Lutheran Church for use of a room at Lake Hill School for a Sunday school. Sunday work would be unfair to the janitorial staff, the board agreed.

The board agreed to pay $50 a month toward the $70 monthly board bill of Sarah Jane Horne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Horne, keepers of the Trial Island light-house. The department of transport will reimburse the board $25 monthly.

Senior welfare administrators and experts from the U.S. and Canada will attend a three-day regional conference of the American Public Welfare Association in Victoria this month.

Christmas is usually just a passing thought at this time of year, but the Empress Hotel has already accepted more than 100 out-of-town reservations for the festive season.

British Columbia will commemorate the B.C. Crown Colony 1866 and Dominion 1867 centenaries with the publication of a souvenir book about the province. It was announced Tuesday by L. J. Wallace, general chairman of the Canadian Confederation Centennial Committee of B.C.

B.C. celebrates the 100th anniversary of the union of the Crown colonies on Vancouver Island and the mainland in 1866. The 100th anniversary of the confederation of Canada is in 1967.

Teach My Child Some Religion is the 6:30 p.m. Thursday sermon topic of Unitarian Church minister Marvin Evans at the Optometrist Building, 108 Superior.

First of a weekly series of films to be presented each Wednesday noon at the University of Victoria will be Lonely Boy, a study of teen-age idol Paul Anka.

Sponsored by the Students' Activities Council and the National Film Board, presentation will be in room 108, Elliott Building. Admission is free.

University of Victoria linguistics department head Dr. Harry Scargill will give a paper on the making of a Canadian dictionary during a seminar at UBC Friday and Saturday.

Permission to practice in his home was refused a denturist by Oak Bay council Monday before a legal opinion was received.

Reeve Allan Cox suggested to council that William Powers, 1955 Grandview, who is purchasing the property at 2821 Cadboro Bay, had sought legal opinion and found he did not qualify under the bylaw permitting dentists and doctors to practise in a residential area.

The much-moved traffic and court place office will be in a permanent home Oct. 4—two days after opening of new central court facilities.

The smiling cashier will greet her often early customers from an office in the Flagg Street location chosen for the central court.

Parks department workmen are busy this week closing up sanitary and changing facilities at all city parks. So far as the city is concerned, the season is over.

NDP Nomination

Victoria New Democrats will nominate a candidate for the Nov. 8 federal election at a meeting at 8 p.m., Sept. 30 at 1116 Douglas Street.

Bridge Gets Deck-Lifting

CNR workman welds crowbar to tear off old planking on bridge over CNR tracks. Railway crews closed off Boleskin Road, west of Douglas Monday and have indicated they will complete redecking job as quickly as possible. Saanich municipality will pay for final blacktopping of the bridge and CNR will pay for plank-lifting work, indicated a municipal official.—(Bud Kinsman)

Victoria to Mark Centenary Of Rudyard Kipling's Birth

Rudyard Kipling — Britain's bard of empire—was born 100 years ago this year and Victoria is making plans to mark the centenary.

The Victoria branch of the Kipling Society will meet next month to plan commemorative ceremonies for the poet whose birth is also to be celebrated in Westminster Abbey on his birthday, Dec. 30.

Kipling, who was born in Bombay, India, the son of a professor of art, grew up to write in his 70-year lifespan some 1,000 poems and 40 books.

Elected

P. D. P. Holmes of Victoria Tuesday was elected president of Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards at annual meeting in Edmonton. He succeeds B. E. Willoughby, Toronto. Veteran of RCAF, Mr. Holmes has been active in Victoria real estate circles, and is director of B.C. Real Estate Institute.

Winter Works Cost Drops

The B.C. share of costs for winter works projects in the province dropped sharply last year, it was learned Tuesday.

Direct payroll for projects carried out during the program period from Nov. 1 to the end of April is estimated at $10,000,000. The breakdown of costs is approximately $5,000,000 in federal grants, $4,000,000 from the municipalities, and $900,000 in provincial contributions.

This is half the B.C. contribution of $1,815,000 for winter works in the previous year.

Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell said Tuesday the government is sticking by its policy on winter works grants established last year over the protests of municipalities.

B.C. will continue to pay 50 per cent of the wages of workers hired for winter works who have been at least three months on the social welfare rolls of the province.

A reduced provincial grant amounting to 25 per cent of the wages will be paid in certain cases to welfare recipients with less than three months on the relief rolls and to those jobless registered with the National Employment Service whose unemployed benefits have run out.

In both cases the municipality will be required to make a formal declaration that the other requirements for provincial grants can't be met.

The minister's latest policy statement coincides with the opening of the 62nd annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities in Victoria.

At last year's convention held in Burnaby Mr. Campbell was the target of questioners who wanted to know why the government had stopped paying 25 per cent of the wages of anyone hired for a winter works project.

Mr. Campbell told the 1964 convention that the government's contribution to the previous year's winter works program had totalled $2,200,000, of which only approximately $100,000 went to social assistance cases.

The minister made it clear that the government's intention was to get more welfare recipients back into the labor market.

When he died, of a perforated ulcer, the age he had loved and hated—but became inseparably linked with — was long in the past.

Just two days later, Jan. 20, 1936, death claimed Britain's King George V.

Margaree Starts Trials

See trials began Tuesday for the newly converted HMCS Margaree, which is due to be commissioned by the RCN Oct. 15.

Eventually slated for Atlantic Command, the ship has undergone a conversion to variable-depth sonar and has been equipped with a helicopter hangar and landing area.

The ship was refitted by Victoria Machinery Depot.

Electricity Kills Crofton Youth

CROFTON—An inquest jury Tuesday viewed the body of a 20-year-old Duncan youth, who was electrocuted early in the day while working at B.C. Forest Products mill here.

An inquest will be held later in Duncan into the death of Herbert Richard Collins.

TOUCHED LIVE WIRE

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Collins, 5244 Briar Street, Duncan, and apparently he died from an electric shock when he touched a 550-volt live wire at the mill.

The fatal accident occurred just after Monday midnight while the youth was working on a control in the ground-wood division.

Police said the control button apparently got stuck, and it is believed the young man attempted to repair it by removing the housing.

The button dropped into the console, and the young man touched the live wire when he reached into the console.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three brothers, William, Queen's Own Rifles in Cyprus; Dennis and David, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Dianne Burton, Newfoundland; Lynn, Joan and Judy, at home; a nephew, and grandmother Mrs. Charles Rainis, in Newfoundland.

The date for Requiem Mass will be set later.

Ferry Rites Scheduled For Oct. 14

Launching ceremonies for the $6,000,000 B.C. government ferry Prince Rupert will take place at 3:30 p.m., Oct. 14, with Mrs. W. H. Murray, wife of Prince Rupert MLA and Speaker of the Legislature, William Harvey Murray as sponsor.

The ship, capable of carrying 430 passengers and 120 cars, will ply the "Route of the Haida" between Kelsey Bay and Prince Rupert.

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—A Negro lawyer has been named a substitute municipal court judge—the first of his race to hold such a post in Roanoke. Wilmer F. Dollard said he was "surprised and very grateful."

Camsell Comes Home After Arctic Duty

With 10,000 miles of frigid water behind her and the prospect of returning to lighthouse tending chores in comparatively warm weather, the Coast Guard icebreaker Camsell returns to Victoria at 1 p.m. today after nearly two months in the Arctic.

During her Arctic service this season the Camsell stood by while Arctic tenders put supplies for the DEW Line ashore, kept channels open for the far northern delivery and set up navigation aids.

ICE DAMAGE

She left Victoria July 2. Good weather speeded her return home.

Early in the trip Camsell lost the use of both her depth sounding machines through ice damage, making navigation in uncharted waters a little dicey, but a department spokesman said Tuesday this was normal.

One thing that is not normal is that the Camsell did not go aground even once. A couple of groundings are expected when the depth gear is not working.

Pods housing the sounding gear on the Camsell have been placed near the bow to allow

Health Board Standards To Be Similar in B.C.?

Action to standardize boards of health across the province and bring them under similar constitutions was forecast Tuesday by Reeve R. G. Lee of Central Saanich, chairman of the Greater Victoria board.

In answer to a member, Dr. T. L. Jansch, who thought a study should begin into the board's administration and functions, Reeve Lee said he knew studies were now being made by the provincial government.

He had had discussions with the minister of health and his deputy, Reeve Lee said, and he thought news would be released in October.

The new set up was designed to go into effect at the beginning of the year, he said.

Ald. Lily Wilson, Victoria representative on the board, confirmed the news. At the moment, she said, the draft of the new constitution was under study and correction.

Injured Girl Recovering After Crash

Jill Kellie, 16, of 1369 Rockland is in satisfactory condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital with hip injuries following collision Monday morning with a car, at Port and Craigdarroch.

Police said Jill's mother, Mrs. Nora Kellie, had stopped the car to let her out when the collision occurred. The other car was driven by Doris Bergbusch of 1372 Craigdarroch.

Five Killed

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — At least five persons were killed when a U.S. air force C-130 transport plane caught fire and crashed about 150 yards off shore in Qui Nhon Bay. Six persons survived.

Also going forward, the board was told in a report has allocated staff and started its preliminary investigations. Population density reports have been received and sewage sampling has begun.

Minstrel Pleads for Humanity

Josh White replaces tired strings

Fire Victim 'Fair' With Face Burns

An Esquimalt man is in only fair condition in St. Joseph's Hospital today, with burns to his face and arm suffered when his house caught fire Tuesday.

Albert Rennie of 881 Intervale was pulled from his home by Sgt. James Owens.

Apparently overcome by smoke, Mr. Rennie was lying on his kitchen floor when found by Sgt. Owens and firemen.

The fire started in his bedroom.

There was considerable smoke damage to the house, but the only area seriously damaged was the bedroom.

'No Race Is Superior'

By IAN ARROL

Josh White, the man who hit the road as a wandering minstrel when he was seven years old, made it to Victoria Tuesday.

Mr. White — now 51 — entertained Tuesday afternoon at the University of Victoria gymnasium, Gordon Head campus, sponsored by the Student Activities Council as a Frosh Week highlight.

His was a passionate performance, whether he and his guitar sang of gentle love or exuberant lust, of the blues or of joy.

Although to talk to Mr. White is to talk to a gentle man, he calls himself a fighter.

With the guitar as an extension of himself, an amplifier of his inmost feelings, he opens the wounds of conscience as he sings with quiet intensity of Strange Fruit — the bodies of Negroes hanging from the limbs of trees.

The Free and Equal Blues declares, "Everyone, everywhere is the same when he's got his skin off."

The blues continued with songs of long-time woes and sometime pleasure. Songs of what trouble can do to a man—I've Got a Head Like a Rock; A Heart Like a Marble Stone.

Woman-trouble songs — I'm Gonna Move to the Outskirts of Town.

A good song is a good song, feels Mr. White, and departing from the ethnic or folk-pure, he sang such as Cole Porter's Miss Oles Regrets and the 1941 song of parental love, Scarlet Ribbons.

And he paid tribute to the spirit of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, as an inspiration to those crippled in body or circumstances.

The Man Who Couldn't Walk Around. And through it all, the strings of the guitar literally sang their guts out.

"I replace all the strings about every second day," said Mr. White before the concert.

He spoke against only one group—the Black Muslims, who preach hate of and superiority to the white man.

"No race is superior," he said. Of Martin Luther King, he said, "His idea is right."

"White and black together as fellow human beings," is the folk singer's belief.

Courtroom Parade

'Attack Provoked'

A lawyer claimed in Saanich court Tuesday that a guard at the Wilkinson Road jail brought about an attack on himself by an inmate by failing to follow regulations.

He said if the officer was not acting within the limits of his authority, an assault, if it took place, was perfectly justified.

INCIDENT

Ian Stewart was acting for John Laurence Smith. Another man, Gerald Brune, was accused along with Smith of assaulting prison officer Frank Bedford in a July 23 incident at the jail.

Brune's counsel, Alan Bigelow, said his client had acted as a peacemaker in the affair. Case was adjourned to Sept. 29 for the magistrate's verdict.

YELLING

Officer Bedford said that during his daily inspection of cells, he heard Smith yelling, "I love you, baby" to someone in the tier above.

He told Smith to be quiet and entered the man's cell, where he found a piece of board 15 inches wide and 24 inches long, which he asked Smith to hand over. Smith refused, claiming he had permission to have the board, and also used obscene language, said the officer.

As the guard made to pick the board up himself, Smith swung at him with his fist and caused his scalp to bleed. The prisoner continued to throw blows at him, so that he was forced to defend himself.

In city court, Magistrate William Oatler sent 18-year-old Norman Kaiblich, of 706 Suffolk, to the young offenders' unit for eight months definite and four months indefinite.

The youth had earlier admitted break-in and theft and wilful damage at Pat's Auto Service, 470 Esquimalt.

A clergyman spoke up for a father of four, David Paul, 7306 West Saanich, who has twice been convicted of driving while suspended, and has a third conviction for impaired driving.

Paul was remanded to Oct. 2 for sentence on further charges of driving while suspended and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

TOWED AWAY

Prosecutor Peter Birkett said Paul collided with a car while reversing in the Ingraham Hotel parking lot on Douglas and later parked on the nearby Tally-Ho lot, where police eventually had his car towed away.

The minister pleaded that Paul should not be sent to jail. He said he thought he would not have learned a lesson, about alcohol.

WHAT OF PUBLIC?

Magistrate Oatler replied, "All the reasons you (the minister) have given me are in favor of this young man, but what about the public?"

He told Paul, "You have paid no attention whatever to the public."

A 14-year-old youth was so affected by drink that he could not climb out of a car and the driver called in police to assist him, court was told.

The result was the driver, Wallace Henderson Young, 24, of 3053 Admirals, was charged with contributing to the delinquency.

Council, Police Laud Fireman

Five Saanich firemen were commended Monday by Saanich council and police for their work in an accident at Trans-Canada Highway and TILCUM, Aug. 18.

Commended were Lieut. Robert Mortimer and Firemen William Benn, Mervyn Gibson, Roy Taylor and Raymond Irvine.

Lemay Drops To Freedom

MIAMI (UPI)—Canadian Georges Lemay, once described as one of the most wanted men on the North American continent, lowered himself seven stories down the side of the Dade County jail Tuesday and sped away in a waiting car.

Police ordered a manhunt from Florida to Canada for Lemay, wanted for bank robbery in Canada. Three other men were seen in the white 1965 car that whisked Lemay away from the "escape proof" jail.

The dark-haired Canadian, 35-year-old, was last seen in jail here awaiting appeal of a deportation order was also reported missing. Police said Mrs. Lemay, who was free on bond pending an appeal of her own deportation order, had not been seen for a day or more at the place where she stayed.

Lemay was last seen in the dusty blue trusty's uniform he wore as a member of a cleanup detail in a part of the new jail still under construction. Lemay found a business window there and evidently used a rope to lower himself by stages to the ground.

Lemay, wanted for the $528,000 robbery of the Montreal branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1961, was captured in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., last May 6. He was recognized by a boat yard worker who had seen his picture on a "wanted" poster flashed from Europe via the Early Bird commercial satellite.

Two Men Lost In Blast

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Two men are missing and believed dead and another was taken to hospital with undetermined injuries Tuesday night after an explosion rocked one unit of the Du Pont of Canada Ltd. explosives plant seven miles south of here.

A Du Pont spokesman said the cause of the explosion, which occurred at the company's Nipissing works on Highway 11 about 10:30 p.m., was not yet known.

But he said it involved only one unit of the plant. The units are in separate buildings, surrounded by huge mounds of earth where any hazard is isolated. "That way, if they (explosives) go up instead of sideways," the spokesman said.

Parched Prairie Farms Promised Peace Water

By RON COLLISTER
Colonist Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA—John Diefenbaker, dropping new policies like acorns, hinted Tuesday that a Tory government would divert the Athabasca and Peace Rivers for their needs.

from the Arctic to the parched prairies.

LIBERAL BROKEN
Mr. Diefenbaker swung back to the capital after his prime tour with the conclusion that the disintegration of the Liberal party in that part of Canada is already completed.

He promised a national water policy.

He hoped that Manitoba Premier Duff Roblin would campaign in Quebec as part of a nationwide campaign on behalf of the national leader.

He said he agreed in principle on the need for Medicare and rejected the Liberal claim that it was an issue in this campaign.

And he indicated that, under a Tory government, civil servants would have collective bargaining. The question of whether or not they wanted to be affiliated to the Canadian Labor Congress would be entirely up to them.

Mr. Diefenbaker arrived back in the capital as Prime Minister Pearson was kicking off the Liberals' national campaign at the Chateau Laurier.

Questioned at the airport, he repeated that he believed there was a prime facie case for the extradition of waterfront czar Hal Banks, now in the U.S., over union funds.

They didn't go right when Mr. Douglas launched his campaign for the Nov. 8 federal election at Prince George Monday.

They continued going wrong Tuesday when he arrived here. He had less than four hours sleep before he had to fly here

PEKING, DELHI DEFUSE CRISIS

NEW DELHI (AP)—The threat of war between India and China appeared to have eased dramatically early today, hours before Peking's deadline to New Delhi to dismantle military outposts in the Himalayas.

Peking radio announced that Indian troops had crossed into Chinese-held Tibet and hauled down the posts the Chinese had demanded be pulled back by late today.

An Indian spokesman reported earlier that Indian and Chinese troops skirmished twice in the last 24 hours in the disputed mountain region and that Indian forces retreated in each case rather than provoke the Chinese.

EARLY THREAT
The dual announcements were seen as a possible prelude to a declaration by Peking that it considered its demands on India fulfilled. The Chinese had threatened India with "grave consequences" if the demands were not met.

The Peking and New Delhi announcements came in the midst of worldwide diplomatic efforts to prevent the fighting between India and Pakistan over Kashmir from escalating into a broader war between India and China.

EXTENSION
China last Friday gave India 72 hours to dismantle 56 alleged military outposts on Chinese-claimed territory on the Sikkim frontier. On Sunday, Peking extended the deadline another three days.

The Peking broadcast said the Indian troops destroyed all 56 military works, apparently satisfying the Chinese ultimatum.

TERMS MET
Many diplomatic observers had predicted the Chinese might bring the crisis to the boiling point, then make an 11th-hour announcement they consider their terms met. By saying India had destroyed or pulled back the intruding outposts, Peking could claim a triumph over the No. 2 Asian country without actually going to war.

Mao Tse-tung's regime has been an eager spectator to the India-Pakistan fighting, openly supporting the Pakistani claims on Kashmir and repeatedly denouncing Indian "aggression."

FULL BACK
India disclosed its troop pull-backs in Sikkim in a protest handed to the Chinese embassy in New Delhi. The note said Chinese troops fired on Indian outposts in two mountain passes Monday and Tuesday, but rather than provoke incidents the Indians withdrew.

The note described India as "gravely concerned by these premeditated acts of aggression and provocation" and demanded that the Chinese government

Pakistan Seeks Deadline Delay

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, foreign minister of Pakistan, arrived in New York late Tuesday and rushed from the airport for a conference with U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, Security Council president.

Bhutto told reporters at Kennedy International Airport that he had not brought his government's acceptance of a ceasefire the UN council has ordered between India and Pakistan. The ceasefire was due to take effect early today after a deadline set by the council Monday. Bhutto said he wanted a deadline extension.

The India-Pakistan conflict dominated Tuesday's opening of the 20th General Assembly.

Bhutto's arrival from London was delayed by fog. The plane on which he travelled made an unscheduled stop at Montreal before proceeding here.

The 11-nation Security Council stood by for a possible early-morning meeting, requested earlier by Pakistan. Canada's External Affairs Minister Paul Martin had told a press conference that a meeting of the council was expected to start soon after Bhutto's arrival.

Prime Minister Shastri was quoted as saying in New Delhi that India would call a ceasefire provided she was assured Pakistan would do the same and the Pakistani foreign minister will likely give his position after meeting with the Security Council.

Transport Minister Pickersgill, said it was the best speech the Prime Minister has ever delivered.

The audience of more than 350 laughed and clapped as Mr. Pearson alternately ridiculed and lambasted opposition parties.

Yet Mr. Pearson stuck strictly to campaign policy of never mentioning Conservative Leader Diefenbaker by name.

He pointed away at his central campaign theme—the need for a majority mandate to deal with the tough problems ahead.

"I am asking for a clear mandate so that our country can have the leadership and strength in Ottawa needed to get on with basic tasks—maintaining economic expansion, improving social security and providing equal opportunity for all."

Mr. Douglas said a hound bit hard into his leg and drew blood Sunday during a picnic at Langley in the Fraser Valley east of Vancouver.

They didn't go right when Mr. Douglas launched his campaign for the Nov. 8 federal election at Prince George Monday.

They continued going wrong Tuesday when he arrived here. He had less than four hours sleep before he had to fly here from Prince George where he left the local NDP organization in disarray.

He hunted in vain Monday for Fred Atkinson, the NDP's Cariboo riding candidate, who withdrew from the campaign for "personal reasons" less than 24 hours after his nomination Sunday.

Then the morning flight arrived early so Mr. Douglas and Maynard Willard, his executive assistant, had the embarrassment of waiting 10 minutes in the airport.

Douglas encountered Dave Fulton and learned that a meeting to nominate the Progressive Conservative candidate in Kamloops would conflict with his own meeting Tuesday night.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. Douglas was taken to a pulp mill construction project, expecting to meet workers at the mill's luncheon. Instead, he was escorted by officials of Kamloops pulp and paper company through the plant, past scores of workers without a single introduction.

McCovey's Error Costly to Giants

By the Canadian Press

Willie McCovey's two-out, bases-loaded error in the sixth inning paved the way for four unearned runs that carried Cincinnati Reds to a 7-4 victory over the National League-leading San Francisco Giants Tuesday night.

The defeat, second in their last 15 games, allied the Giants lead to three games over Los Angeles Dodgers who trimmed Milwaukee Braves 3-1 at Milwaukee. The third-place Reds moved to within 4½ games of the top.

The Giants led 4-1, with the help of Jim Davenport's three-run homer, going into the sixth, but the Reds rallied for two runs on singles by Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson. Bill Henry's wild pitch and another single by pinch-hitter Tony Perez.

After Deron Johnson flied out, John Edwards doubled and Frank Linzy hit Leo Cardenas with a pitch, loading the bases. Art Shamsky struck out and Tommy Harper followed with a grounder to McCovey.

But the big first baseman tumbled the ball, allowing Perez to race home with the tying run. Pete Rose then singled off Linzy's glove, and Edwards scored the lead run. Pinson's second hit of the inning, a single, climaxed the rally by sending home two more runs.

DRYSDALE WINS 21ST

At Milwaukee, Don Drysdale pitched a six-hitter for his 21st victory and singled home the decisive run as the Dodgers won their fifth straight.

The lone Braves run came after an error by Maury Wills and was unearned. Los Angeles pitchers have allowed only one earned run in the last 45 innings.

The Dodgers scored twice in the second inning on Jim LeFebvre's home run and successive singles by Wes Parker, Jeff Torborg and Drysdale.

Drysdale added another single in the ninth inning, raising his batting average to .296, highest on the team.

ORIOLES DOWN TWINS
Mean while at Minneapolis, Luis Aparicio's single and a bases-loaded walk gave Baltimore Orioles two 10th-inning runs and a 6-4 victory over Minnesota Twins.

The loss prevented the Twins from clinching at least a tie for

Season Over For Gonzales

BOSTON (AP)—President Joe Cronin of the American League Tuesday fined Cleveland's Pedro Gonzales $500 and suspended him for the remainder of the season for swinging a bat at Detroit pitcher Larry Sherry Monday night.

The 27-year-old Gonzales touched off a near-brawl when he went after Sherry in the fifth inning in a game at Cleveland. He reportedly swung twice at the Detroit pitcher, missing both times.

Pitcher Juan Marichal of San Francisco Giants recently was fined $1,750 and suspended for eight days for hitting Los Angeles catcher John Roseboro on the head with a bat. The penalty was assessed by National League president Warren Giles.

Walt's Wonderland

Disney Plans Ski Heaven

By VERN SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Walt Disney has embarked on a new project that may well overshadow his Disneyland, the single greatest tourist attraction in the world.

Disney has bid on a 30-year lease of a portion of the Mineral King area of the Sequoia National Forest which he plans to convert into America's finest ski resort.

The blueprints are staggering. Uncle Walt will pour more than $40 million into building an Alpine-like village to accommodate 12,000 skiers overnight in a mountainous setting of virgin wilderness with more ski runs than any winter resort in the western hemisphere.

A total of 14 ski lifts will be erected. There will be bunny runs for children, intermediate slopes for family skiers and a 3½-mile run for experts and olympic hopefuls.

But that is only the beginning. Disney will have facilities for summer activities, too, in an area abounding in mountain lakes, hiking trails, and camp grounds.

The new resort will be a boon to Californians. It is about 280 miles from both Los Angeles and San Francisco. And Walt expects to attract sportsmen and tourists from around the globe.

Like Disneyland, Mineral King will never be a completed project in Disney's mind. As the resort grows and prospers he will make additions and improvements.

"I've developed fine young talent in our organization," he explained, "and I want to give these young men the opportunity to put it to good use. And when I go I want to leave something worthwhile, something that will continue to grow."

Walt is now 62. He cannot see any reason why he shouldn't live to be 90, adding, "I come from a long-lived family."

Perry Brothers Look to Series

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jim Perry is itching for San Francisco Giants to make it into the World Series, and it isn't because he thinks it would be easy pitching to Willie Mays and Co.

The lean Minnesota Twins right hander wants a chance to work against his brother, Gaylord, a pitcher for the Giants.

If the Twins and Giants meet in the series, nothing would please Jim Perry more than to get starting assignment against Gaylord.

While that prospect appears dim because perhaps neither Jim nor Gaylord may get a starting assignment, the brothers from Williamston, N.C., very easily could oppose each other as relievers.

"I can hardly wait for a chance to pitch against him," Jim said. "I sure hope they make it. I talked to him on the telephone Sunday night and told him to get the Giants into the series."

East Soccer Club In First Nationals

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—When Oshawa Italia takes to the field here Saturday night to contest the Canadian soccer championship sudden-death final against Vancouver Firefighters, the team will be making soccer history for this sports-minded city.

While the sport has been well established in this area for many years, this marks the first time Oshawa has appeared in a Canadian soccer final.

In the early 1930s one of the city's greatest soccer teams, Oshawa Nationals, lost a heart-breaking two-game Eastern Canada championship final to the powerful Canada Car team of Montreal, which went on to win the national title.

SWEET TROPHIES
Last season, as champions of the Oshawa and District Soccer League, the Italia club swept every available trophy at the local level. The team emerged as league champion and also captured two separate challenge competitions.

In addition, Italia won the annual Victoria Day tournament trophy, an event open to all amateur teams of the area.

EXTENDED COMPETITION
This year the club extended its competition and went into Ontario cup play after winning the Oshawa and district title. Italia eliminated Kingston 3-1 and Sudbury 8-1 in the Ontario playoffs, and took the provincial trophy after a tough total-goals series with London, defeating London 2-0 after dropping the first game 4-3.

Angry Campaigners Thirsty

Texada Craves Oasis

By AGNES FLETT

TEXADA ISLAND—This tight little island is thirsty, angry, and campaigning for a liquor store. After police stopped a trucking firm from bringing beer to Texada, residents got both dry and hot.

Now they believe the Liquor Control Board should provide a liquor store to give proper spirit service to the island.

The chamber of commerce has protested to Attorney-General Bonner about the lack of liquor. Press comments that the LCB will not consider a liquor store for the island have raised the ire of residents.

Texada consumed more than $100,000 worth of liquor last year. There are 1,700 inhabitants and most are miners.

Some are loggers, some are workmen in limestone plants. Many earn up to $50 a day, with almost nothing to spend it on.

Operation Will Employ 90 Men

Small-Log Salvage Program Largest for B.C. Industry

PORT ALICE—Rayonier Canada Ltd. has a full-scale program in operation here, designed to salvage small logs and other logging wastes.

Convention

Kiwanis Officer Reports

NANAIMO — A report on the recent Kiwanis International convention in New York was given by Kiwanis Lieutenant-Governor Don Johnson, Victoria, to local club members Tuesday.

Mr. Johnson, whose district encompasses Vancouver Island, Powell River and the Olympic Peninsula, said 18,000 Kiwanis members were at the convention.

Another delegate from Quebec made a request that in future Kiwanis literature should be printed in French, Mr. Johnson added.

Next year the international convention will be held on the west coast at Portland.

This program, costing $2,000,000, is the first on this scale in the province.

CHIP PLANT

It includes a $1,000,000 small-wood chip plant at the pulp mill here.

This chip plant is utilizing salvage material from operations on the north end of the island and from the Queen Charlotte.

The plant processes logs from four inches to 23 inches in diameter.

The company is purchasing special yarding equipment and mobile loaders designed for smallwood recovery, at a cost of $1,000,000.

HIGHER USAGE

The operation is aimed at greater utilization of the forests, bringing in smallwood from logged-over areas, small logs and chunks.

The program will allow the company to divert logs from Quatsino to mainland sawmills, and is expected to increase the forest harvest by 20 per cent.

EXTRA MEN

New log salvage equipment has been placed at five logging centres, Port McNeill, Juneau Landing, Holberg, Mahatta River and Moreby.

Equipment includes 10 yarders and five mobile loaders.

The company expects the program will employ an extra 90 men.

Down, Not Out

PORT ALBERNI — Never Say Die is the motto of Alberni Valley's Old Age Pensioners' Organization.

Despite their disappointment over the failure of the referendum recently, which would have given them a fine new activity centre, they have started on their fall program full of vim and vigor.

Thursday is OAP day, with a meeting every Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

In addition to the companionship and entertainment the group affords pensioners, new comers will be pleased to hear that a bus pass is available.

The Tyee Bus Company honors special passes, giving 10 rides for $1.75 to pensioners.

The passes are not sold by the bus company directly, which has no way of determining a passenger's age, but can be obtained through the executive of the Old Age Pensioners and must be endorsed by them.

Plans call for the tests to be continued on a strictly controlled basis over a two-year period.

Whether or not further installations will be put in depends on what early tests reveal to the scientific teams.

The first step has been taken in the testing can be modified or expanded as the research teams deem necessary.

At present, no provincial legislation exists on air pollution, the health unit spokesman said. No standards are set up to determine how bad is bad enough, on a province-wide basis.

At what degree of pollution does the situation stop being a nuisance and become a menace?

Does air pollution have to be established as a cause of illness before definite action can be taken to control it? Or is it enough that certain fall-out damages car finish and makes living in some areas unpleasant?

How much of the problem belongs to industry and how much to other factors?

The answer to these and other questions may be captured on the tapes and in the cameras of the active research team.

Air Pollution Check Quiet but Intensive

By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI — Health officials are running daily checks on air pollution in the Alberni Valley, as part of a quiet but intensive research program into the effect of pollution on the health of residents.

Residents Protest Loss Of Dock

By DORIS CROFTON

GANGES — Residents of this area have united in a common outcry over the smashing of mooring floats and pilings from the federal government moorings in Ganges Harbor.

A letter from the local chamber of commerce has been added to the flood of protests to Ottawa over removal of the dock by the federal government vessel Essington II.

PUBLIC WORKS

The chamber's protest went to the minister of public works, with copies to allied federal agencies.

Chamber president T. W. Portlock said "presuming that the docks were deemed unnecessary following the opening of a new boat basin at Ganges, it is regrettable that a survey of usage, if established, was not made known to the public."

A letter of protest from local business men was signed by BA Oil Marine Station, Ganges Boat Yard, Ganges Marina and Water Taxi, Harbor House Hotel, and Imperial Oil Marine Station.

The letter said the Essington II on Sept. 10 removed two or three sections of mooring floats and supporting pilings, and then repeatedly rammed them, "with the obvious intent of rendering them unfit for further use."

PILINGS BEACHED

It says a number of the pilings were beached on private waterfront property, and most of the remainder of the wreckage of the floats was towed out to the inner area where it was released.

The letter claimed a few hours later the rising tide brought large amounts of this debris back into the harbor and onto the beaches.

In addition teams are carrying out a survey of respiratory ailments in local families to determine the relationship to air pollution.

Dr. Gerald Bonham, director of Central Vancouver Island Health Unit, gave some details on the purpose of the study.

NO SIGNS

The research program has been moving quietly, with investigators checking records, and asking questions, for almost a year.

Since Dr. Bonham's announcement, residents have been looking curiously for signs of activity, usually without success.

LUNG MACHINE

Inconspicuous apparatus has been set up on roofs in downtown and residential areas in both Alberni and Port Alberni.

Several types of mechanical recorders are in use, some of which measure hydrogen sulphide, some measure smoke, still others suck in air, much as the human lungs do, showing the particle content of the atmosphere.

LAB CHECK

All these research gadgets are electrically operated, and are checked, some daily, others weekly, by health unit employee Max Ratner, the Twin Cities sanitary inspector.

"I am not an authority," said Mr. Ratner, "But I am available here, so I check and see the machines keep working. These once each month, two research scientists come and take away the samples to the laboratory in Vancouver."

HIGH TOWER

Weather conditions have a great deal of effect on air pollution. To take this factor into account, a 50-foot mast is being raised with the help of Vancouver weather experts.

Atop the mast, weather instruments will record conditions which may also be expected to affect the amount of foreign matter in the air at any given time.

Dr. Bonham's announcement earlier mentioned a similar community which was being used as a control, but he did not name the city.

It has been learned here the comparison city is Chilliwack. This city was chosen because geographically it is similar to the Twin Cities, but without a pulp mill.

TWO YEARS

Comparison of results in the two areas will show the scientists just how great the pollution problem is, what areas are most affected in the Alberni, and perhaps most important, what the pollution consists of.

"We must not forget," a health official pointed out, "that some pollution comes from automobiles and other sources besides industry."

"The varying types of pollution and their degree can be determined quite accurately by laboratory analysis."

NO LAWS

Whether or not further installations will be put in depends on what early tests reveal to the scientific teams.

The first step has been taken in the testing can be modified or expanded as the research teams deem necessary.

At present, no provincial legislation exists on air pollution, the health unit spokesman said. No standards are set up to determine how bad is bad enough, on a province-wide basis.

POSSIBLE ANSWER

At what degree of pollution does the situation stop being a nuisance and become a menace?

Does air pollution have to be established as a cause of illness before definite action can be taken to control it? Or is it enough that certain fall-out damages car finish and makes living in some areas unpleasant?

The answer to these and other questions may be captured on the tapes and in the cameras of the active research team.

Boy Finds Note And Adventure

NANAIMO—Garry Negrin, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Negrin, Hammond Bay Road, found adventure in a bottle washed up north of Piper's Lagoon during the summer.

The bottle contained a name and a New York address.

Garry, a Grade 2 student at Rutherford Elementary, wrote to the address with his mother's help.

It turned out the note had been put into the sea on May 10 by a U.S. seaman on his way to Alaska.

Since that time the seaman had been to the area around the Amazon River in South America and he was able to give Garry a colorful description of his adventures.

Electricity Kills Crofton Youth

CROFTON—An inquest jury Tuesday viewed the body of a 20-year-old Duncan youth, who was electrocuted early in the day while working at B.C. Forest Products mill here.

An inquest will be held later in Duncan into the death of Herbert Richard Collins.

TOUCHED LIVE WIRE

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Collins, 5824 Briar Street, Duncan, and apparently he died from an electric shock when he touched a 550-volt live wire at the mill.

The fatal accident occurred just after Monday midnight while the youth was working on a control in the ground-wood division.

Police said the control button apparently got stuck, and it is believed the young man attempted to repair it by removing the housing.

The button dropped into the console, and the young man touched the live wire when he reached into the console.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three brothers, William, Queen's Corn Rille, in Cyprus; Dennis and David, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Dianne Burton, Newfoundland; Lynn, Joan and Judy, at home; a nephew, and grandmother Mrs. Charles Rains, in Newfoundland.

The date for Requiem Mass will be set later.

For Cattle Show

Farmers Offer To Build Ring

NANAIMO — Nanaimo-Cedar Farmers' Institute has offered to build a new covered cattle show ring with bleachers in time for next year's Vancouver Island Exhibition here.

NOT GLAZED

The institute made its offer in a letter to a meeting Tuesday of the VIX.

If the new ring is built it will not be on the site of the present show ring, president Cyril Edgington said.

The next meeting of the fair committee will be on Oct. 19 when all ideas for capital improvement for 1968 must be submitted by members. At the same time costs of any new projects should be included.

A letter was read from David

Owen, Vancouver, assistant to the district supervisor for the Department of Agriculture, pointing out that entries in the cattle division were "disappointingly small" for a fair the size of the VIX.

Mr. Edgington said besides the 4-H barn which were well-filled, there was only another quarter of a barn filled.

He said the small entry was due to three causes, the classification used, the awkwardness of the breeding schedule on the west coast, and because Nanaimo, a four-day fair, only offered the same prize money as two-day fairs.

A livestock committee will investigate the problem and bring in recommendations.

Duncan Boy Given Suspended Sentence

DUNCAN — A 15-year-old boy was given a suspended sentence when he appeared in juvenile court Tuesday, and admitted operating a motor vehicle while not being the holder of a driver's licence.

The court learned the boy had taken his father's truck without permission. The accused rolled the truck causing $400 damage.

The boy and a friend left a note for the father, and left town. They were picked up on a ferry heading for the mainland.

The court felt the youth had learned his lesson, and he was given a suspended sentence.

Chairs Last Meet

DUNCAN — President of the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce, Dave Pollock, will chair his last meeting at noon in the Commercial Hotel dining room.

Mr. Pollock, who is manager of the local Royal Bank of Canada, has been transferred to Vancouver, and will take up his duties as assistant manager at the main Vancouver branch in October.

Chamber secretary Art Stevenson said as the chamber is only a few months away from its term end, Mr. Pollock will be automatically succeeded as president by Sam Keeble, vice-president.

Kinettes Plan Fall Program

CUMBERLAND — Kinettes, meeting at the home of Mrs. Jacqueline Bennie, welcomed Mrs. Norrie Galeazzi as a new member.

The club discussed the all-Island meet of Kinettes to be held in Nanaimo Friday, Oct. 25.

No action was taken regarding delegates to attend the meeting.

The ladies of the club decided to hold a hope chest raffle with the draw to take place in December.

Each member will be responsible for two articles.

A request was received from the Kinettes for help in meal planning when the paraplegics make their annual visit next weekend. A feature of the visit will be a wheel chair basketball game on Friday.

The next meeting of the Kinettes will be Oct. 24.

PORT ALBERNI — Overseas visitors and trade missions are so common in this industrial valley that no one blinks an eye.

A group of Netherlands businessmen, and a lone German importer accompanied by representatives of the federal department of trade and commerce, registered at a local hotel over the weekend.

Having run across the fact of their presence while researching a different story, I was intrigued to know what brought the group to the valley.

On Tour

"Just another group interested in the soft woods industry," I was told at the hotel. Unfortunately all had gone for a tour of mills and woods, and were not available for an interview.

Ah well, thank heaven for public relations men. I would call the mill and enquire.

"You're sure they're Dutch?" they asked. "We are expecting one gentleman, but he's not Dutch."

I thanked him and hung up. I tried Mayor Fred Bishop. No luck.

007 Film

I even tried federal candidate Tom Barnett. Out of town. I asked IWA official John Squire. He didn't know.

I began to feel like a character in a James Bond movie, with secret knowledge which no one else would take for truth.

Then the phone rang, and MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. was on the line.

"Your mysterious group has just arrived," I was told. "They are on a tour arranged by our sales department."

"Are these visits that common?"

Many Nations

"Good heavens, yes. We've recently had groups from France, Japan, Great Britain, and another coming from Australia."

At the moment Mac-Powell officials were busy arranging a tour for a Norwegian industrialist.

The industrialist is Rein Henriksen, president and chief executive officer of Aktieselskapet Borregard, Norway's largest industrial enterprise, who is also on a visit to B.C.'s forest industry.

He arrived in the Alberni Valley to visit the pulp mill after having been a guest of Crown Zellerbach elsewhere on the island.

Biggest Mill

The Mac-Powell spokesman said: "The pulp mill here is now the largest in Canada. The recently installed paper machine holds the world's speed and tonnage records."

"Industrialists the world over know and use products from the Alberni Valley, which sells much more on the export market than is sold here in Canada."

While giants of industry from the rest of the world come to view with approval and awe, valley dwellers pack their lunch pails, swing their shifts, and take the whole big thing for granted.

CARS Drive Ready

PORT ALBERNI—"If the people of the valley are as generous with their contributions as the merchants have been with their window space, this year's Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society campaign should be a real success," commented Mrs. A. E. Dertell, public relations officer for CARS in the Alberni Valley.

She and her helpers have been canvassing both sides, asking merchants to permit their stickers advertising the campaign on their windows. "Not one refused us," she said.

CARS plans a blitz in the valley Thursday evening, and hopes to raise this year's quota of $4,500.

The campaign will be conducted under the direction of the society's campaign chairman Doug Willing, and president Dr. Roger Bleakley.

Champion Defeated

CHEMUNUS — Mrs. W. O. Wilson of Ladysmith defeated defending champion Mrs. Harold Cook in the semi-finals of the women's club championship at Mount Brenton Golf Club, and will meet Mrs. Stuart Clement in the finals to decide the championship on Thursday.

In the play for the championship consolation Mrs. Gary Urton will meet Mrs. Reg. Harwood.

In second flight play Mrs. John Duncan will meet Mrs. John Liptak and in the consolation Mrs. J. Wickham and Mrs. Elmer Hart will play off.

In third flight play Mrs. Albert Lead and Mrs. J. Dods, both of Ladysmith, and Mrs. G. Hemmingsen and Mrs. Norman Boden will be contenders.

Church Meal Success At Tofino

TOFINO — A hot dinner presented by women's auxiliary of St. Columba Anglican Church here recently was well-attended. Local women showed their cooking skill with a variety of hot dishes and clam chowder.

Mrs. Harold Sloman arranged the affair, with help from Mrs. Harold Arnet, Mrs. R. C. Erickson, Mrs. E. R. Hagelin, Mrs. Karl Arnet, Mrs. Douglas Arnet, Mrs. Kenneth MacKenzie and Mrs. C. W. Nicholson.

The ladies expected $150 profit. The money will go toward a heating system for the church.

A great hit with the public was the Dress Revue, a 4-H project under the Fads 'N' Fashions Home Arts Club section in which members modeled and made commentaries on garments they had made themselves.

Mrs. Y. Reis, Alberni, and Mrs. E. Touzeau, Parksville, judges in this division, thought the models displayed by Yvonne Gillen and Brenda Meyer, both of Gabriola Island, were worthy of first place.

Sandra Ross, also of Gabriola Island, placed second.

In the junior division, first prize went to Coleen Colwell of Nanaimo, second to Janine Cooper, Nanaimo, and third prize to Cecilia McKinnon.

W. H. Dunn, vice-president of the B.C. Fair's Association, opening the fair, congratulated the exhibitors on the splendid display of field and garden products, saying they were equal to anything he had seen this year.

He also congratulated the 4-H Club members on their fine work.

Winter Works Cost Drops

The B.C. share of costs for winter works projects in the province dropped sharply last year, it was learned Tuesday.

Direct payroll for projects carried out during the program period from Nov. 1 to the end of April is estimated at $10,000,000. The breakdown of costs is approximately $5,000,000 in federal grants, $4,000,000 from the municipalities, and $900,000 in provincial contributions.

***

This is half the B.C. contribution of $1,815,000 to winter works in the previous year.

Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell said Tuesday the government is sticking by its policy on winter works grants established last year over the protests of municipalities.

B.C. will continue to pay 50 per cent of the wages of workers hired for winter works who have been at least three months on the social welfare rolls of the province.

A reduced provincial grant amounting to 25 per cent of the wages will be paid in certain cases to welfare recipients with less than three months on the relief rolls and to those jobless registered with the National Employment Service whose unemployment benefits have run out.

In both cases the municipality will be required to make a formal declaration that the other requirements for provincial grants can't be met.

The minister's latest policy statement coincides with the opening of the 62nd annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities in Victoria.

At last year's convention held in Burnaby Mr. Campbell was the target of questioners who wanted to know why the government had stopped paying 25 per cent of the wages of anyone hired for a winter works project.

Mr. Campbell told the 1964 convention that the government's contribution to the previous year's winter works program had totalled $2,200,000 of which only approximately $100,000 went to social assistance cases.

***

The minister made it clear that the government's intention was to get more welfare recipients back into the labor market.

Karachi Targets: UN, U.S., Britain

Mob Rips Up Canadian Flag

KARACHI (UPI)—Pakistani mobs, Tuesday, attacked U.S. Canadian, British and UN government installations in Karachi and Lahore, breaking windows, setting fires and tearing down flags.

The protests were part of day-long demonstrations here and at other Pakistani cities protesting the United Nations ceasefire order and alleged Western support for India in the Kashmir dispute.

Demonstrations also were reported at Dacca, Lahore and several other cities. Rioters tossed stones at the Canadian High Commission, ripped down the Canadian flag

"and tore it into pieces" in Karachi.

It was the first time the new Canadian flag—a red maple leaf on white adopted in the last parliament—has been defaced abroad.

There are about 120 Canadians in the Pakistani city. An external affairs spokesman in Ottawa said the situation will be watched closely and if matters grow worse Canadians will be ordered out. He said planes have been sent and "they can be moved in a matter of hours."

The U.S. Information Service library was destroyed and 15,000 books in the building were destroyed or burned. Several hundred policemen later were posted near the embassy, the United States offices and the Indian High Commission.

Canadian officials said no official protest will be lodged because the Pakistani government has apologized for the incident.

Pakistan Agrees

Ceasefire On Deadline

NEW DELHI (AP)—The threat of war between India and China appeared to have eased dramatically early today, hours before Peking's deadline to New Delhi to dismantle military outposts in the Himalayas.

Peking radio announced that Indian troops had crossed into Chinese-held Tibet and hauled down the posts the Chinese had demanded be pulled back by late today.

An Indian spokesman reported earlier that Indian and Chinese troops skirmished twice in the last 24 hours in the disputed mountain region and that Indian forces retreated in each case rather than provoke the Chinese.

EARLY THREAT

The dual announcements were seen as a possible prelude to a declaration by Peking that it considered its demands on India fulfilled. The Chinese had threatened India with "grave consequences" if the demands were not met.

The Peking and New Delhi announcements came in the midst of worldwide diplomatic efforts to prevent the fighting between India and Pakistan over Kashmir from escalating into a broader war between India and China.

EXTENSION

China last Friday gave India 72 hours to dismantle 56 alleged military outposts on Chinese-claimed territory on the Sikkim frontier. On Sunday, Peking extended the deadline another three days.

The Peking broadcast said the Indian troops destroyed all 56 military works, apparently satisfying the Chinese ultimatum.

TERMS MET

Many diplomatic observers had predicted the Chinese might bring the crisis to the boiling point, then make an 11th-hour announcement they consider their terms met. By saying India had destroyed or pulled back the intruding outposts, Peking could claim a triumph over the No. 2 Asian country without actually going to war.

Mao Tse-tung's regime has been an eager spectator to the India-Pakistan fighting, openly supporting the Pakistani claims on Kashmir and repeatedly denouncing Indian "aggression."

PULL BACK

India disclosed its troop pull-backs in Sikkim in a protest handed to the Chinese embassy in New Delhi. The note said Chinese troops fired on Indian outposts in two mountain passes Monday and Tuesday, but rather than provoke incidents the Indians withdrew.

The note described India as "gravely concerned by these premeditated acts of aggression and provocation" and de-

Lemay Drops To Freedom

MIAMI (UPI)—Canadian Georges Lemay, once described as one of the most wanted men on the North American continent, lowered himself seven stories down the side of the Dade County jail Tuesday and sped away in a waiting car.

Police ordered a manhunt from Florida to Canada for Lemay, wanted for bank robbery in Canada. Three other men were seen in the white 1965 car that whisked Lemay away from the "escape proof" jail.

The dark-haired Canadian beauty the slick, 39-year-old fugitive married while in jail here awaiting appeal of a deportation order was also reported missing. Police said Mrs. Lemay, who was free on bond pending an appeal of her own deportation order, had not been seen for a day or more at the place where she stayed.

CLEANUP DETAIL

Lemay was last seen in the dusty blue trusty's uniform he wore as a member of a cleanup detail in a part of the new jail still under construction. Lemay found a barless window there and evidently used the hose to lower himself by stages to the ground.

Lemay, wanted for the $528,000 robbery of the Montreal branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1961, was captured in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., last May 6. He was recognized by a boat yard worker who had seen his picture on a "wanted" poster flashed from Europe via the Early Bird commercial satellite.

Rivard Guilty Says Texas Jury

LAREDO, Tex. (CP)—Lucien Rivard was convicted on two narcotics charges and three fellow-Canadian co-defendants on single charges at the end of their seven-day trial Tuesday in federal district court here.

Each of the charges carries a minimum five years and a maximum 20 in penitentiary. Judge Ben C. Connally said after court adjourned the men will be sentenced about 30 or 40 days from now, after he receives probation officers' reports on their records, obtained from Canadian authorities. The sentencing might be either here or at Houston, headquarters of the southern Texas federal judicial district.

Rivard was found guilty of conspiring to smuggle heroin into the United States and of "causing" the smuggling of a particular shipment of 76 pounds seized at this Mexican border point in 1963.

The jury found the four Canadians guilty on all the charges for which they were on trial here. Rivard, Jones, Gagnon and Groleau all were found guilty of conspiring to carry narcotics into the U.S., and Rivard was convicted on the additional charge of "causing" heroin to be smuggled.

Secret Talks

BERLIN (UPI)—British officials met secretly with East Germans Tuesday reportedly to seek the release of Englishman Gerald Brooke from a Russian prison where he is serving a sentence for espionage.

Two Men Lost In Blast

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Two men are missing and believed dead and another was taken to hospital with undetermined injuries Tuesday night after an explosion rocked one unit of the Du Pont of Canada Ltd. explosives plant seven miles south of here.

A Du Pont spokesman said the cause of the explosion, which occurred at the company's Nipissing works on Highway 11 about 10:30 p.m., was not yet known.

But he said it involved only one unit of the plant. The units are in separate buildings, surrounded by huge mounds of earth where any hazard is involved. "That way, if they explode they go up instead of sideways," the spokesman said.

Grits Cheer Pearson For Rousing Kickoff

By FRASER KELLY

Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Liberal candidates and workers are fanning out across the nation today buoyed up by Prime Minister Pearson's rousing "up and at 'em" campaign kickoff.

Speaking with confidence and vigor, Mr. Pearson was interrupted 30 times by spontaneous applause as he outlined Liberal Party policy for the future Tuesday.

FULL MEDICARE

Full medicare by 1967, more federal aid to education and a massive training program for the unemployed, were among the carrots he offered voters in exchange for a majority in the Commons.

Beaming with delight, several topflight Liberals, including

Transport Minister Pickersgill, said it was the best speech the Prime Minister has ever delivered.

The audience of more than 360 laughed and clapped as Mr. Pearson alternately ridiculed and lambasted opposition parties.

Yet Mr. Pearson stuck strictly to campaign policy of never mentioning Conservative Leader Diefenbaker by name. He pounded away at his central campaign theme—the need for a majority mandate to deal with the tough problems ahead.

CLEAR MANDATE

"I am asking for a clear mandate so that our country can have the leadership and strength in Ottawa needed to get on with basic tasks—maintaining economic expansion, improving social security and providing equal opportunity for all."

John D: Bumper Policy Crop

Parched Prairie Farms Promised Peace Water

By RON COLLISTER

Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—John Diefenbaker, dropping new policies like acorns, hinted Tuesday that a Tory government would divert the Athabasca and Peace Rivers

from the Arctic to the parched prairies.

Promising a national water policy during the campaign, Mr. Diefenbaker warned that by 1980, unless something was done, Canadians would have difficulty finding enough pure water for their needs.

LIBERALS BROKEN

Mr. Diefenbaker swung back to the capital after his prairie tour with the conclusion that the disintegration of the Liberal party in that part of Canada is already completed.

● He promised a national water policy.

● He hoped that Manitoba Premier Duff Roblin would campaign in Quebec as part of a nationwide campaign on behalf of the national leader.

● He said he agreed in principle on the need for medicare and rejected the Liberal claim that it was an issue in this campaign.

● And he indicated that, under a Tory government, civil servants would have collective bargaining. The question of whether or not they wanted to be affiliated to the Canadian Labor Congress would be entirely up to them.

Mr. Diefenbaker arrived back in the capital as Prime Minister Pearson was kicking off the Liberals' national campaign at the Chateau Laurier.

Questioned at the airport, he repeated that he believed there was a prima facie case for the extradition of waterfront czar Hal Banks, now in the U.S., over union funds.

Banks, former president of the Seafarers International of Canada fled this country while on bail after conviction for conspiracy to assault.

Dog's Life for Douglas

But in Prince George Monday the animal kingdom made amends to Mr. Douglas.

Mr. Douglas said: "At least this one's friendly. Yesterday I got bitten."

Mr. Douglas said a hound bit into his leg and drew blood Sunday during a picnic at Langley in the Fraser Valley east of Vancouver.

They didn't go right when Mr. Douglas launched his campaign for the Nov. 8 federal election at Prince George Monday.

They continued going wrong Tuesday when he arrived here. He had less than four hours sleep before he had to fly here from Prince George where he left the local NDP organization in disarray.

He hunted in vain Monday for Fred Atkinson, the NDP's Cariboo riding candidate, who withdrew from the campaign for "personal reasons" less than 24 hours after his nomination Sunday.

Then the morning flight arrived early so Mr. Douglas and Maynard Willard, his executive assistant, had the embarrassment of waiting 10 minutes in the airport. At his downtown hotel, Mr.

Douglas encountered Dave Fulton and learned that a meeting to nominate the Progressive Conservative candidate in Kamloops would conflict with his own meeting Tuesday night.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. Douglas was taken to a pulp mill construction project, expecting to meet workers at the mill's lunchroom. Instead, he was escorted by officials of Kamloops pulp and paper company through the plant, past scores of workers without a single introduction.
